

U.S. Consul Released After His Arrest in Zanzibar Hotel

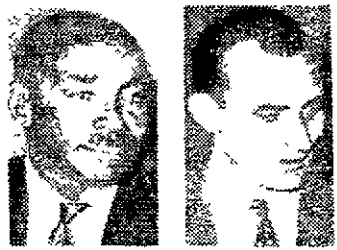

Seized at Gunpoint as He Argues With Karume Over Lack of Recognition

BY DENNIS NEELD
ZANZIBAR (AP)—Zanzibar's revolutionary regime kept a U.S. diplomat under house arrest today following his seizure at gunpoint during an argument of the Arab regime of the sul- tan of Zanzibar by African nationalists, the State Department said. Petterson is expected to resume contacts with the new government.

The newsmen were forbidden to leave the hotel. They were to leave the island today aboard the British survey ship Owen at the request of the U.S. State Department.

U.S. Consul Frederick P. Picard III was arrested in a hotel room Thursday night after Karume stormed in to denounce four American newsmen.

In Washington the U.S. State Department received word that Picard was released and had reached Dar es Salaam, Tanganyika. Donald K. Petterson, third secretary at the U.S. embassy, was released from house

Karume Picard

Department. The Owen is here to evacuate British residents.

A squad of revolutionists took the newsmen out of the hotel one at a time this morning and stood them against a wall—then took their photographs.

Karume, who had just returned from Dar es Salaam, where he asked for assistance from Tanganyika, denounced the United States for withholding recognition of the new government.

He shouted angrily at Picard that any remaining relations with the United States were now severed.

While in Dar es Salaam, Karume apparently read dispatches filed by foreign newsmen from Zanzibar. But none of the four Americans had had time to file any reports since their arrival by native sailing dhow.

Picard, charge d'affaires of the U.S. Embassy, had tried to defend the newsmen but only succeeded in incurring Karume's wrath.

"Why do you not recognize us?" Karume shouted at Picard. Then he hammered his fist into the palm of his hand and yelled, "You have interfered with our government."

Glenn to Seek Nomination in Senate Race

Astronaut to Run As Democrat in Ohio's Primary

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Lt. Col. John H. Glenn Jr. made the plunge from the space program to national politics today. He formally announced he is a candidate for the Democratic nomination for U.S. senator from Ohio.

In a packed hotel ballroom the first American to orbit the earth made his expected announcement to newsmen that he will oppose Sen. Stephen M. Young for the Democratic senatorial nomination in Ohio's primary election next May 5.

Glenn, 42-year-old native Ohioan who made his historic three-orbit trip just short of two years ago, on Feb. 20, 1962, said that as soon as possible he is resigning his commission from the Marine Corps.

The astronaut said that Congress "is an area in which I have had a lifelong interest. To serve in a body whose actions help mold the destiny of America and the free world is certainly both a challenge and a high calling."

Parents Democrats "The purpose of this meeting then, is to declare myself a candidate for the Democratic nomination for United States senator from the state of Ohio."

Glenn never had declared himself as a Republican or Democrat. In anticipation of the question, Glenn made this statement:

Robert Kennedy Not Certain if He'd Run For Vice Presidency

TOKYO (AP)—Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy said today he has not decided whether he would accept the vice presidential nomination if it were offered.

Replying to a newsman, he said that he had considered his future for six weeks following the death of his brother, the late President John F. Kennedy, and had "decided basically that I didn't decide."

"At the moment, I plan to be the attorney general," he said. Asked whether he had urged astronaut John Glenn to run for the U.S. Senate in Ohio, Kennedy said he had had "a number of conversations with John Glenn over his future." He declined to comment further.

along the Canal Zone in which 19 Panamanians and four U.S. soldiers were killed.

Official Panamanian sources had said Chiari would complete the break unless the United States agreed to negotiate a new treaty to replace the 1903 pact giving it perpetual control of the Canal Zone.

Soviet Ships, Jets Witness U. S. Navy Drills

No Hostile Acts or Contact Between Americans, Reds

WASHINGTON (AP)—Russian jet bombers and Soviet warships boldly snooped close to the U.S. carrier Hornet and six destroyers during anti-submarine drills in the Sea of Japan early this month, it was learned today.

The Russians were spotted by radar and kept under surveillance by Navy planes and ships. There were no hostile acts or demonstrations and no contact between the Americans and the Russians.

The Navy disclosed that several twin jet Soviet Badger bombers flew over the carrier task group in two flights—under the escort of U.S. Navy jet fighters which intercepted them some distance away.

A Russian destroyer took up position about a mile from the 32,000-ton Hornet and stayed with the carrier and her destroyer screen for almost two days.

In his report, the skipper of the Hornet complimented the Russian seamanship but complained that the Red destroyer belched too much smoke.

Deadlock Remains Between Panama, U. S. on Canal Issue

Both Governments Careful Not to Worsen Situation

BY ROBERT BERRELLEZ
PANAMA (AP)—Panama and the United States remained deadlocked today in their bitter dispute over the Panama Canal. Neither government budged an inch, but neither government did anything to make the situation worse.

High sources in American and Panamanian official quarters said there was a slight hope that some formula would be found to get the two governments together again.

Reports from Washington said U.S. diplomatic troubleshooters were working behind the scenes in the U.S. capital and in Panama.

Manuel Trucco of Chile, chairman of a U.S.-Panamanian committee established under the auspices of the Organization of American States, met Thursday with Panamanian President Roberto Chiari and Foreign Minister Galileo Solis.

Later Trucco reportedly met with Edwin M. Martin, the chief U.S. negotiator, in the effort to resolve the crisis.

Chiari made no move to carry out his threat to call his embassy staff home from Washington and demand the departure of U.S. diplomats from Panama. This would complete the rupture of diplomatic relations he broke last Friday during the violence

Wants Sheriffs' Authority to Drop Traffic Cases

EAU CLAIRE (AP)—A sheriff's department should have the right to dismiss some traffic cases, Milwaukee County Sheriff Michael Wolke said Thursday, "to eliminate a lot of trash that would clutter up the court's calendar."

Wolke said that if his department was not allowed to dismiss some traffic cases, "then the sheriff is nothing more than a rubber stamp to the man making the arrest."

Wolke's comments at the annual meeting of the Wisconsin Sheriffs and Deputy Sheriffs Association were seconded by three county judges who appeared on a panel with him.

They were Carl E. Bjork of Price County, Conrad T. Hansen of Eau Claire and John G. Bartholomew of Pepin.

"We have always felt we did have authority to review cases before we loaded down the court with petty cases, without perhaps, enough evidence to get a conviction," Wolke said.

Hansen said that in most jurisdictions, a ticket was no more than an invitation to appear in court, and that he believed law officers had the right to review the tickets.

5 Americans Die in Combat In Viet Nam

4 Killed, 3 Hurt When Big Plane Explodes in Air

BY MOLCOLM W. BROWNE
SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP)—Five U.S. servicemen were killed and three wounded in combat helicopter operations over the Communist-infested Mekong Delta today.

The heaviest toll was in a turbine-powered UH1A that apparently exploded in the air in an operation 90 miles southwest of Saigon. Four were killed in it. Three crewmen were wounded, two seriously.

The other American killed was a door-gunner of an H21 troop-carrying helicopter. He was hit by a Communist bullet in another operation. He was a private first class.

Toll Grows to 99

The deaths brought to 99 the number of American servicemen killed in combat in South Viet Nam since late 1961. U.S. service deaths from all causes now total 173.

Saigon authorities announced that a company of Vietnamese troops was heavily hit in a jungle ambush 20 miles northeast of this city by a strong Viet Cong force Wednesday.

Government losses included six dead, 31 wounded and 39 missing.

The attack by about 500 guerrillas was the heaviest in several weeks. The South Vietnamese company was ambushed as it entered a forest three miles from the town of Tan Uyen, at the edge of Communist-controlled territory.

The government said the company put up stiff resistance for several hours before it was overrun.

Robber Threatens To Kill Woman in $1,400 Tavern Holdup

RACINE (AP)—Two armed men fled with about $1,400 from a tavern early today after one of them pointed his revolver at a woman patron and said, "I killed a guy last week and I'm not going to stop now."

The holdup at Mence's tavern, a mile north of here on Highway 32 occurred at 12:55 a.m. after the two men had been in the tavern for about 15 minutes.

The Racine County sheriff's department said one of the men held a pistol at the right temple of Mrs. Patricia Bahrs, 32, of Caledonia, and made the threatening statement.

Nine patrons were in the tavern, owned and operated by Edward Mence, 58, when the holdup men, described as in their 20s, fled with the cash. The money, all in small denominations, was on hand to cash payroll checks.

The patrons and Mence were ordered to lie on the floor as the holdup men fled on foot in opposite directions.

Bomb in Luggage Cart

$7 Million Gene Autry Motel in Illinois Rocked by Explosion

SCHILLER PARK, Ill. (AP)—A bomb rocked the $7 million Sahara Inn of former cowboy movie star Gene Autry late Thursday night, four months to the day after another bomb damaged the plush motel.

Police in Schiller Park, a suburb northwest of Chicago, said a black powder bomb was planted in a luggage cart outside the north wing of the two-story 150-room inn. It shattered windows in 12 of the rooms.

There were no injuries. A motel spokesman said all the damaged rooms were rented but were unoccupied when the explosion occurred.

Irwin H. Schlicht, manager of the inn, estimated damage at $800-$1,000. Last Sept. 16, another bomb caused $1,000 damage without injuring anyone.

Allan Jones, 56, the inn's featured singer, announced after Thursday night's blast that he was checking out of the motel immediately, commenting that, "I refuse to risk my life."

Built in 1962

The first bombing remains unsolved and there is no clear motive for the latest, investigators said. But the Sahara, originally the Sahara North, has had an interesting although short history.

The luxurious motel, built in 1962, once was owned by Mandel (Manny) Skar, a convicted burglar and an admitted associate of Cosa Nostra hoodlums.

Last year it went into receivership after Skar defaulted on monthly payments on a $5.8 million mortgage. In July, Autry bought the motel from the receiver, Marshall Savings and Loan Association.

The new management promptly made it clear that gangster elements weren't welcome and asked the sheriff's police to eject any known mobsters. Sheriff Richard Ogilvie of Cook County, no friend of the crime syndicate, gleefully complied.

Among those getting ushered out were Jimmy (The Monk) Allegretti, reputed North Side vice chief; Marshall Caifano, reputed gambling revenue collector; Americo (Pete) De Pietto, alleged gang enforcer and loan shark; and Rocco (The Parrot) Potenza, believed to be gambling chief in Northern Cook County.

Because of this incident, police after the first bombing speculated gangland revenge was behind it. This was never proved, however.

France Prepares to Recognize Peking

Washington Takes Dim View Of Decision by De Gaulle

WASHINGTON (AP)—France so far, but Rusk and his top aides in talks with Alphonse made it clear the United States takes an extremely dim view of France's intended action.

President Charles de Gaulle has had the move under consideration for several months and the United States had made strenuous efforts throughout that time to persuade him not to go through with it.

Time Only Question Nevertheless the recent word from France has been that the question was no longer whether Red China would be recognized, but when.

France would be the fifth North Atlantic Treaty Organization country to recognize the Peking regime. The others are Britain, Denmark, the Netherlands and Norway.

Officials in Washington are reluctant to talk about the French notification and, in general, about France's intention, saying the official announcement should come from Paris.

They acknowledge, however, that the Johnson administration is resigned to the fact that it cannot stop De Gaulle from establishing contacts with Peking.

Speculating about De Gaulle's reasons, some specialists of the Asian theater hinted that Paris did not conceal its ambitions to play again some role in Southeast Asia, where it once was the colonial power.

Mother Held in Death of Infant

WAUKESHA (AP)—A charge of second degree murder was filed Thursday against Mrs. Donna Hengen, 31, of North Prairie, in the death of her 7-month-old son. The same charge lodged earlier against her husband was dropped.

Dist. Atty. Roger Murphy quoted Mrs. Hengen, the mother of three other children, as saying she "blackened out" and dropped her son, Jeffery, after she had spanked him. She said that after regaining consciousness, she placed the boy in his crib. She called a rescue squad when she noticed he didn't move, and he was pronounced dead at a hospital.

Minnesotan Killed As Truck Rolls Over

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The death of a Minnesota truck driver has raised the 1964 Wisconsin traffic toll to 40, or 15 more than on this date a year ago.

Paul F. Lehnertz, 34, of Winona, Minn., was killed Thursday night when his truck rolled over after leaving Highway 71 and dropping down an embankment about nine miles south of Sparta. Lehnertz was thrown from the cab and found dead under the wreckage by a passing motorist.

Strive to Increase Savings, But Keep Attitude Realistic

BY MARY FEELEY
Consultant in Money Management
Dear Miss Feeley:

I am self-employed, and my weekly earnings range from $75 to $250 for a yearly total of about $8,000. It is my theory that we should be able to live on about $100 per week after taxes. Which would leave me a savings of about $2,000 to $3,000 per year.

We are a family of five, with three sons ranging in age from 7 to 12 years. My expenses are as follows:

Mortgage, $66.62; fuel, $260 a year; electricity, $10 a month; insurance, $500 a year, (life, health and real estate); phone, $6.60 a month; real estate tax, $200 a year.

In addition, food, clothing and recreation, which I will ask you to set up for us. Our car is paid for.

Do you think a budget of $100 a week would do for us? I have no doubt that such a situation is common among our age group, just getting started in business.

Mr. and Mrs. F. D. Wilmington, Del.

Dear Mr. and Mrs. D.

Though you both signed the letter, it's pretty clear which one of you is holding out for that $100 a week budget. However, Mr. D., according to the few figures you've given me, I estimate you'd end up about $22 a week short — or lacking about $95 a month.

The standard of living you indicate would shape up like this by the month:

Mortgage, $66; taxes, $40; household operating costs, $39; food, $140; insurance, $45; personal allowances, $45; miscellaneous, $30; medical costs, $20; recreation, $10; books, magazines, newspaper, $10; car operating, $40; clothing, $43.

This amounts to $528 a month. And the clothing allowance is barely enough, with three growing boys.

Now don't misunderstand me. You can always take a hatchet to the budget and whack off something here and there. The estimate I set up is simply following your lead, and is in proportion to income.

The two of you might see how you can adjust such categories as miscellaneous, personal allowance, car operating. And perhaps the monthly estimate for medical expenses is higher than it need be, since you have health insurance.

I realize you must think about education for the boys, and you ought to re-evaluate your life insurance, as you probably need more than you're carrying.

If you feel it's essential to save as much as you mention, in order to nourish your growing business, then it can be done. But don't make the mistake of setting up too stringent a plan, as today's living is important as well as tomorrow's. And it would be disheartening to fall short of your goal consistently.

Dear Miss Feeley:

Last summer we stayed at a lake resort for two weeks. The charge was $95 a week each, for the two of us, American plan.

Would you please suggest the proper amount to leave the waitress (we had the same one for two weeks), cabin girl, desk clerk, cabin boy or anyone else who should be tipped. My husband tipped our fishing guide each time we had him. Your column is a great help to many of us.

A. B., Joliet, Ill.

Where tipping is concerned, you pretty much have to play it by ear. The posher the place, the fatter the tips. One resort tells me their staff is accustomed to having guests divide 15 per cent of the total bill among those who gave special service. I suggest the bigger portion should go to the waitress, since she's in attendance three times a day every day.

When you are uncertain, not only just how much to tip but whom to tip, feel perfectly free to consult the manager. You can find a graceful way of saying that you would like to thank the staff employees who made your stay so pleasant, and would appreciate his guidance. It won't be the first time he has been consulted on the subject. Talk to him in private, of course. And be sure not to ask the staff.

Dear Miss Feeley:

We owe a dentist bill of $600, no other debts except current expenses. As our savings account is just under $2,000 and we have a separate account of $1,200, we are able to pay the bill with existing funds.

However, we wondered if a collateral loan, to be paid in one year, from our bank, would be a wise move and we would appreciate your comments on the advisability of such a plan.

Dear J. W.:

I'd hesitate to dip into that emergency fund of $1,200 for anything except just that — an emergency that couldn't be handled any other way.

If you take out a loan, you'll pay out more in interest than your $2,000 regular savings account is earning. So the dentist bill should be settled out of the $2,000.

However, I make this qualification: unless you can trust your self to replace that $600 in your savings account as regularly as you'd repay the loan, take the loan. There's no question of your paying that back. This way you keep your backlog — even though you pay a penalty.

In the future, if a big dentist bill looms, perhaps you can arrange to pay as you go. Some dentists find it mutually satisfactory to pro-rate the cost of protracted work.

Parents' World

Senior in High School, 14, Wants Privileges of Peers

Dear Dr. Jones: My daughter is a junior in high school, but she's only 14 years old. That's because she skipped two grades when she was very young.

Up to now, we haven't had any trouble. But now she wants to go on dates and to go with boys who drive their own automobiles.

I have to admit that most of her classmates are 17 and they're doing exactly what she wants to do. But I think she's too young for dates and cars. She said you'd tell me that it's psychologically important for teenagers to belong to a peer group — whatever all that means. So I'm leaving it up to you to decide. What should I do?

MRS. B. H. Your daughter will probably hate me as much as mine have in similar circumstances. But my vote's with you. However smart she may be, she's still only 14. And that's at least two years too young for the kind of social life she wants to lead.

So that she won't have to suffer being a social outcast until she reaches college, though, tell her you'll let her date the last half of her senior year in high school. Until then, she'll have to struggle along with parties and school affairs that don't involve cars and single dates.

Dear Dr. Jones: My husband swears when he's annoyed at home. He doesn't mean anything by it, I know, and I also know he won't change.

It never affected our oldest child, but my 4-year-old is now picking it up. What can I do?

MRS. R. G. Tell her that those particular words are words that children are not supposed to use. If she objects that, "Daddy says them," tell her that when she's as old as Daddy is, she'll be able to decide to use them, too, if she wants. Until then, though, she can simply tell you that she's annoyed by using other words.

Dear Readers: Would you help me with some research? I would greatly appreciate receiving letters from readers who have used my pamphlet, "How To Solve Toiletting Problems."

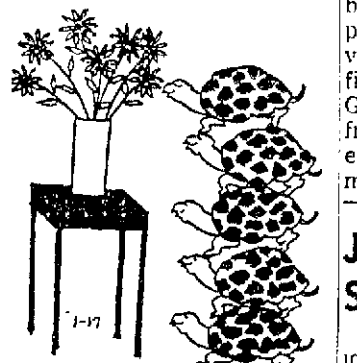

Please write, won't you, and tell me what suggestions you put into practice, how you felt about my suggestions, and how your child reacted. Be sure to include the age of your child when toiletting first started, his age when you put my suggestions into practice, and the kind of problem you were facing.

Thanks ever so much for your cooperation. I hope that at least a few thousand readers will send me this information.

DAISIES DON'T TELL. Have you a secret that you really and truly must keep a secret? Well, follow Bobo's friend's example — tell only the daisies because the daisies don't tell! Seal your lips, be mum and mute about any story that must be kept strictly to yourself. All those "cross my heart" phrases, etc. are repeated so often that your friends may have forgotten what this pledge means.

When more than two people get into on your secret you run the risk of a school-wide broadcast. So keep the secret between yourself and the daisies! (Copyright 1964)

WINTER SAFETY WHILE DRIVING can be no better than the equipment in your car, warns Dan Luebke of Dan Luebke's City Service, corner of Third and Racine streets, in Menasha. Have Dan check your car completely for winter use, with special emphasis on the exhaust systems that sometimes leak into an automobile. The telephone number at Luebke's is PA 2-2947.

Winter has finally arrived. Apparatus in perfect working order; lubrication and oil "just difficult and hazardous and it right;" and the careful checking of the exhaust system — there have been many accidents caused by gases leaking into the body of the automobile. Keep your car tank filled with City Service Milemaster or City Service 5-D gas (that is the fuel with the five dimension). Both of these fine gasolines have additives to help prevent carburetor icing or gas line freeze-ups. And don't forget a City Service battery for a fast and easy start on those cold mornings. Have your car checked as soon as possible. Dan has a pickup and delivery service for his busy customers. Call PA 2-2947 and drive carefree the rest of the winter.

ANOTHER HOME FOR A FOX CITIES FAMILY. Modern equipment, such as that pictured above speeds delivery of all fine products that go into today's homes. A home is only as good as its foundation, and this one will be solid and strong, built to last with concrete block provided by Schultz Concrete Products, Inc.

What with bigger families, more household goods and more leisure time, homebuyers today want and need extra living space. A basement, they are finding out, offers the most economical solution.

According to the Schultz Concrete Products Inc., a basement can double the size of a house for just a fraction of the above-ground building costs. There are money savings, too, in putting the heating unit, laundry, utility and storage areas below deck instead of using valuable space upstairs.

Consumer surveys reveal that most people prefer homes with basements. Therefore, a home with a basement is easier to finance and easier to sell.

A concrete basement, with a reservoir of cool air, helps keep a house more comfortable in summer. During winter, on the other hand, it is easier to heat, because the added space under the first floor provides enough insulation to keep the floors warmer.

Given light, ventilation and an outdoor entrance, a concrete basement will serve any purpose you wish. It can be converted into a den, workshop, office, darkroom or greenhouse. Game room possibilities run from darts and shuffleboard to even bowling. And if the basement is 50 per cent above grade

Johnson Invites

Senator to Cook

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson has invited Sen. Allen Ellender to cook up some Louisiana gumbo at the White House.

While the gumbo's cooking, Johnson will mix politics with pleasure and try to stir up some votes for his foreign aid program.

The invitation came Thursday after Johnson pushed a button to lay the keel of the first highly automated ship at a New Orleans shipyard.

After his brief speech, Johnson turned to Ellender and began a discussion of farm problems and foreign aid. Ellender, Louisiana Democrat who is chairman of the Senate Agriculture Committee, is a frequent critic of foreign aid.

Compulsory Work Program for Petty Violators Urged

Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Vagrants, drunks and petty law violators, all who share a common quality of dislike for work, should be sentenced to a compulsory work program—somewhat along the lines of the old workhouse, but modernized, Outagamie County Judge Gustave Keller said Thursday.

At the same time, Judge Keller told members of the County Medical Society, the state should provide facilities for the rehabilitation of alcoholics and sex offenders. Judge Keller was speaker at the society's monthly meeting at Alex's Manor House.

"It is my opinion," Judge Keller said, "that the work program, and its facility, should be on an area basis rather than a county basis. In most instances the cost of an effective system on a county basis would be too costly; on an area basis, the counties could share the cost."

Sex Offenders

Sex offenders "are in considerable number," Judge Keller said. "The horrifying fact about these offenders is their ability to spread the evil to others—particularly young people."

Wisconsin does have a sex deviate center at the Wisconsin State Hospital in Waupun, and the courts are required to commit certain offenders to that institution.

For sex crimes not listed as mandatory commitments, however, the courts are allowed discretion and may commit the offender "if the state department of public welfare has the facilities and will accept the individual," Judge Keller said. The hospital is overcrowded and another class of sex offenders cannot be accepted.

Fear of being jailed for a certain amount of time or fear of a heavy fine is not a deterrent "and is not going to solve this very serious problem," Judge Keller said. Some courts hesitate to jail sex offenders for fear of throwing them into contact with others who are confined.

Proper Facilities

Judge Keller called for prompt action toward the building of proper facilities for treatment of these offenders as well as for treatment of alcoholics "who have crowded the available mental institutions to capacity."

Judge Keller suggested that the state facility be designed and equipped for alcoholics with trained personnel for rehabilitation.

Society members were urged to make a study of the facts and become fully and correctly informed "so that you understand the conditions," Judge Keller said. "Then discuss them with your family, your co-workers, and friends to make them conscious of the problem," Keller concluded.

John Conway Named GOP District Head

Appleton Man Will Replace Retiring Colburn Cherney

John Conway, chairman of the Outagamie County Republican Party, has been named to an interim appointment as chairman of the party's Eighth District organization. The announcement was made today by Talbot Peterson, Appleton, state chairman of the GOP.

Conway

Conway, who is manager of the Conway Motor Hotel in Appleton, will serve only until the April caucus of the Eighth District, at which time a permanent chairman will be elected.

Peterson's appointment of Conway must be approved by the state GOP's executive committee. It will fill the vacancy created by the resignation of Colburn Cherney of Green Bay. Cherney announced his resignation due to the pressure of his law business.

Peterson said "Cherney has made an outstanding contribution to the Republican Party in the years he has served his county, district and state. We are all sorry that the pressure of his law business forces him to step aside. He will be missed."

School Board OKs Annuity Proposal

Appleton Board of Education has approved participation in a tax-deferred annuities plan if enough school employees are interested in it.

The board recommended a plan be adopted which would be available to all school employees, not only to teachers.

Werner Witte, Appleton High School vice principal and chairman of the Appleton Education Association insurance committee, said the committee studied the state teachers' retirement board plan and plans of three commercial companies.

Number Interested

With the board's authorization, the committee will determine the number of employees interested in the program. The board asked the AEA committee to work with a committee of non-teaching employees to determine interest and to recommend which company is preferred.

Under the tax-deferred annuity plan, income tax is not paid on money placed in the annuity until after a person's retirement.

Gerald Van Asten to Compete For State Honors in February

KAUKAUNA — Gerald Van Asten, 34, route 3, Kaukauna, was named Outstanding Young Farmer of the area at a dinner Thursday night at the Legion clubrooms.

Sponsored jointly by the Jaycees and Wisconsin Gas Company, Van Asten will be in competition with about 25 other winners from throughout the state at Appleton Feb. 14 and 15. State winner will compete for national honors.

Van Asten is married and the father of four children. After spending four years in the navy, he turned to dairy farming on a 130-acre farm near Holland.

Swimming Pool in Initial Plans for New High School

Superintendent Says Construction Is Up to People, Their Money

A swimming pool is included in the initial plans of the new pool in a school. Kurtz said that the advantages of having a pool in the schools "are many," but he did not elaborate. He said that in other Appleton schools, when the pool had been included in the initial plans, the pools had been eliminated early "because of the need to economize."

Money Matter

"Many have felt that the school swimming pool—whether to have it or not—is merely a matter of money," Kurtz said. He estimated that to include a pool in a school would mean an additional $200,000 on the final construction bill.

The new senior high school is slated for construction sometime this fall and is to be ready for occupancy in 1965.

Served Appleton School System for 23 Three-Year Terms

Franklin L. Nehs, an Appleton Board of Education member since 1958, has decided not to seek re-election this spring.

Nehs was elected to a three-year term on the board in April, 1958, and re-elected in 1961.

In a statement issued today, Nehs said:

"With great reluctance I have decided not to seek re-election to the Appleton Board of Education in the spring election.

The position deserves full attention and effort, and I feel I shall not be able to fulfill this obligation in the immediate future.

Rewarding Experience

"Membership on the board has been a most rewarding experience, and it is hoped I shall be privileged to serve again."

Victor Sumnicht, a present board member; Mrs. Walter Heil, a former member, and Kenneth Sager, a Lawrence College professor, have taken out papers for the two vacancies on the school board. None have filed their papers.

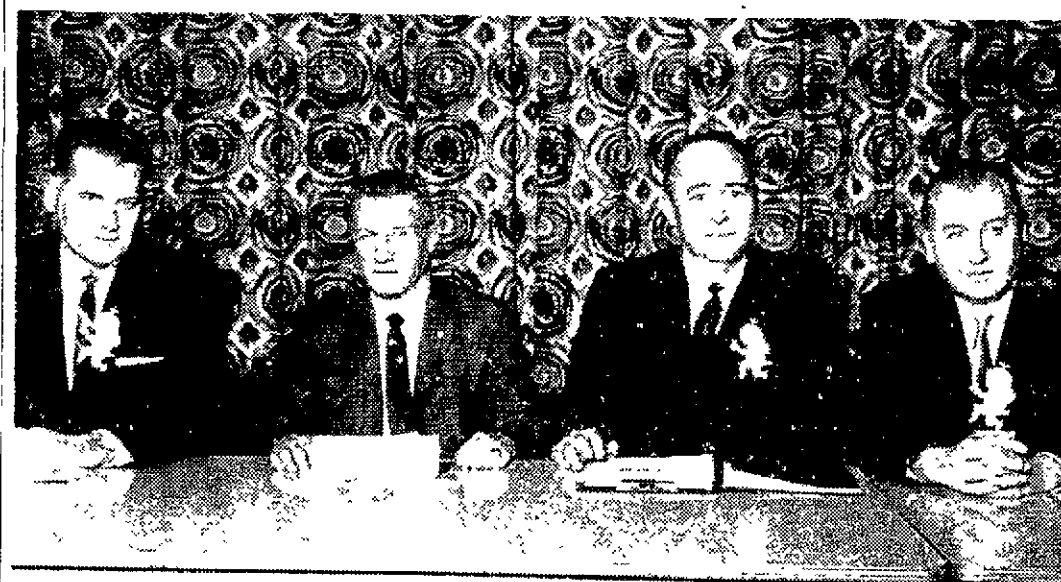

Nehs served as assistant secretary of the board in 1959-1960, and has been vice president for three of the last four years. He served as vice president from 1960 through 1962, and was re-elected to that post for the current year.

Mrs. George C. Munro, school board president, said of Nehs' decision to retire from the board, "During his six years on the board Mr. Nehs has made an outstanding and unique contribution to the success of our work, often at a sacrifice to his own interests. He is a helpful and constructive colleague, and I hope he will find it possible to serve again in the future."

Two other architects, George Narovec and Robert Sauter, asked to participate in the panel, did not attend the meeting. John Rudy, PTA member, was moderator.

Points of information discussed by the panel included: Appleton's cost of school construction is well below the state average by $1 and $2 per square foot. Appleton's amount of construction since World War II "is certainly not far behind many."

Amended Map Permits Drew Street Extension

Appleton Council Approves Future Road Change, but Not Across Northland Avenue

Amendment of the official city map to permit future extension of North Drew Street from the proposed service road north of Northland Avenue in Florida Avenue was approved this week by the Appleton Common Council.

The action of the council will eventually result in access to the Einstein School site.

However, the council has refused to extend Drew Street across Northland Avenue (Old U.S. 41) because it is a limited access road.

Percy Menning, one of the property owners in the area who feels the city has a legal obligation to extend Drew across Northland Avenue, favored the map amendment with some stipulation in a letter read at the public hearing Wednesday night.

Dairy Objects

Opposition came from Foremost Dairies, another property owner, which objected to the fact it might have to provide about 60 feet of its land for a street while Menning would donate but a few feet for a future street.

"Recognizing the city's objection to access at North Drew Street, we will support the placement of North Drew Street on the official map from East Florida Avenue to the Northland Avenue service road, provided the street grade on Drew north of Northland Avenue is

Fox Valley Planners Ask Financing for Regional Soil Survey

Executive Committee Resolution Suggests Costs Distribution

The executive committee of this probably would not be until the year 2000.

The Fox Valley Regional Planning Commission Thursday adopted a resolution asking member governments to appropriate funds for a soil survey in the region.

The soil survey, discussed by the commission for some time, would cost a total of about $26,000, half of which would be paid by the Soil Conservation Service (SCS), which would conduct the survey.

Of the remainder, the Housing and Home Finance Agency (HHFA) would pay two-thirds, if the commission qualifies.

The HHFA will pay a share of the cost of soil surveys, if there is shown to be a need for such studies, and if the requesting organization has its portion on hand.

With HHFA approval, the cost for each member unit would range from $41.20 for Town of Buchanan to $1,676 for Appleton.

Commission Director Eugene Franchett said a definite need is shown in the number of housing development plans rejected by the State because the ground is inadequate for sanitation purposes.

He said the survey would be valuable because it would indicate in advance major "problem areas" in the region.

He said it would also be valuable in road and highway planning.

Without the cost sharing plan, the SCS would eventually complete the study, but representatives of the agency have said

Little Lake Unit Part of Expressway

BY TOM RICHARDS
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

The final report in a preliminary investigation of a proposed bridge over Little Lake Butte des Morts will be completed in two weeks to a month, State Highway Commissioner P. L. Janssen said Thursday.

Janssen told the executive committee of the Fox Valley Regional Planning Commission work by state engineers is "moving very well."

The bridge would be a major link in an expressway system proposed by the commission. Plans call for the superhighway to stretch from U.S. 41 at Neenah, through the Fox Cities, and back to 41 beyond Kaukauna.

Janssen said he and Leroy Empey, Green Bay, fellow state highway engineer, anticipate a meeting soon with the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers in Chicago.

Because the Fox River is a federal waterway, the proposed bridge would have to meet Army specifications, Janssen said.

No date has been set for the Chicago meeting.

Major Problem

The major problem in engineering of the bridge, Janssen said, is the approaches and types of interchanges to allow a smooth blending of traffic.

Several proposals are under consideration, he said.

Another problem is determining the location and depth of the lake's rock ledge.

Janssen said war department maps available to the highway department do not show these structures, and the state will have to take soundings.

Location of solid rock could have considerable effect on the cost of the bridge, he said.

Shallow bed rock ledge would mean lower construction costs because footings would be more easily anchored, the engineer said.

The preliminary report will include estimates of costs, which are contingent on Army Corps requirements and rock ledge location, he said.

4th Candidate Takes Nomination Papers For School Board

Martin L. Downs, 1000 Green Tree Rd., today became the fourth Appleton resident to take out nomination papers for the board of education.

Two positions will be filled on the board at the April 7 city-wide election.

Downs is technical director and a vice president of Thilmany Pulp and Paper Co. He is a former chairman of the No. 10 district school board.

One of the incumbent school commissioners, Alf Frank, Nehs announced today he will not seek re-election.

Victor L. Sumnicht, 1201 S. Kernan Ave., the other commissioner whose term expires in the spring, is circulating nomination papers.

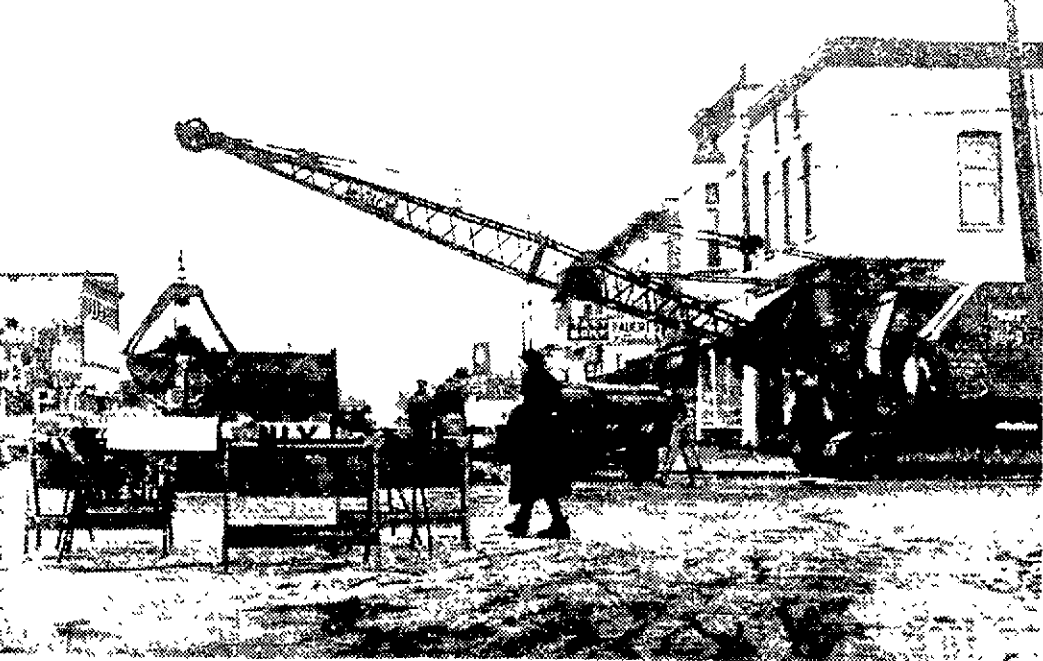

Others who have shown interest in running for school board and are also circulating papers are: Mrs. Helen Heil, 1735 N. Oneida St., and Kenneth R. Sager, 525 N. Douglas St.

Filing papers and officially becoming a candidate for re-election was Sylvester G. Esler, 416 W. Parkway Blvd., 18th Ward supervisor.

NFO Sets 7-County Dairy Conference

Price Problems Main Topic of Meeting in Appleton Saturday

The Outagamie County National Farmer's Organization along with county NFO organizations from Winnebago, Waupaca, Shawano, Oconto, Brown and Calumet counties will sponsor a dairy meeting at the Edison School, Appleton, at 8 p.m. Saturday.

The meeting is one of four being conducted in Wisconsin and Minnesota this week. Albin Rusk, Hillsdale, one of two scheduled speakers said, "We are looking for a total crowd of well over 10,000 dairy farmers at these meetings." He also said "farmers are being asked to attend the meetings to talk over the dairy problems of cheap prices and attempt to solve the situation together."

Rusk is head of the National Dairy Commodity Department for the NFO. He also operates a 200-acre farm in Barron County. Before taking his new position in 1962 he worked as a national staff organizer and assistant national organizational director.

Dairy Guild
The other main speaker at the meeting will be Ted Boersma, a dairyman from Sussex, N. J., secretary of The Dairy Farmer's Guild, a three-state organization including eastern Pennsylvania, lower New York and the State of New Jersey.

Boersma said the Dairy Farmers Guild recently voted to aid and is by far more than most communities in the state." School sites are selected with a "rule of thumb" that it takes 30 acres for a high school, 12 to 15 acres for a junior high and between 8 and 10 acres for an elementary school. Most schools in the mid-town section of Appleton are far below space requirements.

The Appleton Board of Education works closely with the Wisconsin Telephone Co. to keep current on population figures so the board can plan for proper school sites and construction. The unofficial population of Appleton as of last Dec. 1 was 51,080. There are over 10,000 students in the schools.

Schools may not be built more than two floors high State laws require that elementary schools have at least one window in each classroom, but high schools now can be built without windows.

Modify Codes
Architects and school construction officials have worked hard since the end of World War II to modify state codes to lower the costs of school buildings. Included in the changes have been a lowering of ceilings from 12 feet to 9 feet, and a "squaring off" of classrooms to eliminate "the long, narrow classroom."

Approximately one out of every three classrooms included in modern day school buildings is built for the academic class. Two-thirds of the classroom space is absorbed by the technical arts, fine arts, physical education and service areas. Play and recreation areas in the modern school take most of the space, approximately 38 percent.

At least one panel member felt that a reduction in the cost of school construction would be made if schools were made to be operated 12 months of the year instead of nine. LeVeé said that better use of the schools would lower cost. Kurtz said that school construction costs are "getting lower" all the time with the adoption of the "compact" building plan. "As we approach the more perfect square in construction," Kurtz said, "the cost of the building drops proportionately."

Expense Funds For Lawmakers Are Challenged

Finance Bureau Questions Legality Of Recess Payments

MADISON (AP)—The director of the State Bureau of Finance has challenged the legality of expense payments for lawmakers while the Legislature is in recess.

C. A. Reuter asked the attorney general Thursday to rule on whether the lawmakers are entitled to the funds since they are not formally adjourned and will reconvene April 14.

Court Ruling
Reuter noted that a State Supreme Court ruling in December held the Legislature could call extended recesses and that the governor would not be entitled to exercise interim appointment powers during the periods.

The high court ruling, written by Justice William Dieterich, was heralded as a victory for the Legislature's Republican majority in its continuing fight with Democratic Gov. John W. Reynolds over appointments.

Could Backfire
The opinion could backfire on the GOP, however, if Atty. Gen. George Thompson, also a Republican, holds that expense funds can not be paid during a recess.

A new pay bill passed in August granted the expense payments when lawmakers are not "actually" in session. It will fall to Thompson to define "actual."

Assemblymen receive $25 a month for one-county districts and $15 for each additional county when the Legislature is not in session. Senators receive $40 for one-county districts and $20 for each additional county they represent.

Tipsy Driver Fined $175

Appleton Man Tests .23 on Drunkometer, Loses His License

William B. Nowell, 23, 732 First St., Menasha, was fined $175 and costs after pleading guilty of drunken driving. He appeared in Outagamie County Court Branch 2, today.

An off-duty Appleton policeman saw Nowell drive erratically in the 800 block of E. Wisconsin Avenue Thursday night. He was taken to the Appleton police station where he tested .23 on the drunkometer. A reading of .15 is considered evidence of intoxication.

Nowell's driver's license was revoked for one year.

Miss Martin has chosen "Red Shoes," adapted for theater by Robin Short, as the annual spring play. It will be presented April 24, 25, and 26.

School Board to Continue Some Neenah Transportation

Propose Six Point Plan For Better School Service

NEENAH — The Neenah Board of Education will continue to provide bus service for school children living across U.S. 41 as the result of a conference between the board and the council Thursday night at the city hall. The children live more than 2 miles from either the senior high or junior high school but within the city limits.

The board last Monday dropped transportation for children living within the city limits as a means of cutting expenses to meet the council-ordered $70,000 budget reduction. However, because of the safety factor the board continued to transport those who live across Highway 41.

Planning Unit Sets Meeting

Fox Valley Group Okays Committee Appointments

The Fox Valley Regional Planning Commission's annual meeting will be April 16.

Original plans called for the meeting earlier in the year. However, the executive committee Thursday rescheduled the convocation in April because commission chairman Ralph Risley would be out of town.

Executive committee members also approved the appointment of two committees at Thursday's meeting.

Appleton Mayor Clarence Mitchell was named to head a committee to pick potential recipients of the regional planning commission's Charles W. Wood Memorial Award.

Wood, chairman of the commission for about six years, died last year.

Other members of the committee are Outagamie County Board Chairman Alvin Fulcer and Arch Dixon, Neenah citizen member.

Nominating Committee

The executive committee also approved Risley's appointment of a nominating committee, headed by Combined Locks Village President Donald Hoh.

Other members are George A. Schwalbach, Town of Harrison chairman, and Menasha Mayor John Klien.

Other action included approval of an education committee proposal to purchase a slide projector at not more than $40, and a screen at not more than $35.

In the financial report, a surplus of $8,413 was shown as of Dec. 31, slightly more than had been expected, officials said.

Panel members are Dr. Charles A. Cahill, medical director; Dr. Kenneth Joshi, chief clinical psychologist; Jacques Leitzke, clinical psychologist and program director; Fred C. Kepfied, chief psychiatric social worker and administrator; and Robert C. Gellert, psychiatric social worker.

Curtis J. Saari, son of Clifford R. Saari, Green Bay; David J. Traeger, son of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Traeger, Green Bay.

and Ronald G. Reimer, son of Milton A. Reimer, Green Bay.

For Annapolis — Richard E. Heier, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Heier, Green Bay; William V. Bast, son of Victor E. Bast, Oconto Falls; David S. Nimmer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sherman Nimmer, Mishicot.

Neenah Man Hospitalized By Accident

OSHKOSH — A Neenah man, Donald F. Leszczynski, 26, 131½ W. Wisconsin Ave., was seriously injured in a one-car accident on State 150 just west of the County Trunk QQ intersection, at 12:23 a.m. today.

Winnebago County police said the driver, who was thrown from his 1963 model car, received serious head and internal injuries. He was taken to Theda Clark Hospital in the Neenah ambulance. Hospital authorities reported he was in fair condition today.

The car was equipped with seat belts which were not used. Leszczynski was thrown from the car and was found 27 feet ahead of the car on a snow-covered lawn.

Police said the car was headed east and went off the road for 345 feet before hitting a utility pole, breaking it into three sections. The car then rolled for another 99 feet and ended in front of the Anthony Blajski home at 1967 Winchester Road.

Electric power to the area was disrupted when the pole broke.

A witness, John Zachas, 1845 Woodfield Road, Neenah, who was walking his dog at the time, said he heard the car approach, saw it fly through the air and then saw a blue flash of light. He found the driver in front of the car and went to his nearby home to summon help and get a blanket with which to cover the driver. Leszczynski was alone in the car at the time.

Funeral Services For Mrs. Draheim Will be Monday

Appleton Starts School Bond Action

Action has been started by the city council to have Appleton be co-defendant in the proposed Albert Einstein Junior High School.

Aldermen approved the first reading of a resolution Wednesday which would permit borrowing of funds requested by the board of education.

Whether the city will be able to float the issue is uncertain, because the school board has been threatened with a lawsuit in connection with bid-letting for the new school building.

If litigation is pending against the school board (the city would be co-defendant), city officials would be prohibited by law from borrowing the funds.

City officials say they intend to get the necessary bonding resolutions in order to avoid a day which would permit borrowing of funds requested by the board of education.

Scouts to Hold Circus

St. Therese Cub Scout Pack 29 will have a circus at its monthly pack meeting at 7:30 p.m. Thursday in the St. Therese hall. Each den will put on an act.

Approval for the second time of a $500,000 general obligation bond issue to cover cost of constructing a new fire station.

At the previous meeting, only 14 aldermen were present and the vote did not meet the three-fourths majority required by law.

sizes for easy handling in today's crowded streets, freeways and parking facilities?

Or is it because Ramblers are built a new and better way with scores of built-in extra-value features?

Any of these would be excellent answers for Rambler's popularity and rapid growth. But behind them all is an underlying and a more basic reason for Rambler's success:

That reason is the attitude of American Motors toward its customers.

There is a determination by Rambler's management, field organization and dealers to deliver full satisfaction to every Rambler buyer.

Here is Rambler's philosophy: "We are a company that pledges itself to base its product design directly and specifically on true consumer needs. We respect the judgment of the consumer, and have one primary goal—to make ourselves known as the industry's Number One ally of the consumer."

This attitude and concern for the car buyer is reflected on the production line by workers. They are stockholders in the company, thanks to American Motors' unique progress-sharing plan. Their objective is: "Build every Rambler as though you were going to own it yourself."

Isn't this the kind of organization you'd like to do business with? One that is interested in making sure you are completely satisfied with your purchase? One that is dedicated to making cars with more usefulness to the user?

Success in satisfying customers has put Rambler solidly among the big sellers. It has... —made Rambler No. 1 in compact-car sales. —made Rambler the best-selling 6-cylinder station wagon —prompted a $200,000,000 expansion, product and modernization program, just completed, to satisfy the growing demand for Ramblers. —made American Motors one of the nation's largest industrial corporations, with annual sales of over $1 billion.

If you are planning to buy a new car, test-drive Rambler.

Normally a school which is sporting a 38-game winning streak and has the best offensive and defensive marks in the conference wouldn't be too worried about invading the lair of the Dutchmen, namely the St. John High School gym. However, Xavier High School and Coach Gene Clark in particular, is a bit apprehensive about Saturday night's Fox Valley Catholic Conference encounter on the Little Chute hardwood. "With this winning streak going, I'm worried about every opponent we face," the Xavier coach said. "Everyone is 'up' for us, they're all waiting for a chance to get at us."

In addition to the Xavier-St. John game, two other league tilts are on tap for Saturday. Marquette Central Catholic will be at Oshkosh Lourdes and Pennings of Green Bay visits St. Mary Springs at Fond du Lac. League action actually gets underway this evening when Abbot Pennings of DePere invades St. Mary Menasha.

In recalling the first game against St. John, Clark said the Chuters played a "good game and were only down five points at halftime." It was after the Xavier game that the St. John fortunes took a turn for the better. After the loss to the Hawks, the Chuters have gone on to win three of five games, and one of the losses was a 1-point to Pennings in overtime.

Narrow Victory
Xavier's latest outing was at Wausau Newman and Clark still "gets the shakes" when he thinks about the Hawks' narrow, 42-38 victory. "We were way off and if Newman would have been hot at all we would

Booming Cost of Grid Rookies Key Topic At AFL Meeting

BY BOB MYERS

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—The booming cost of hiring college rookies—for example, reputedly more than $130,000 for three years for a guard—must surely lead to a common draft between the old National Football League and the now robust 5-year-old American League.

These were matters of major concern and hope Friday as the bosses of the AFL resumed their annual meeting. The mutual draft was a key topic, but there will be no changes in the AFL line-up in 1964. Commissioner Joe Foss said there will be no expansion and no switching of cities by the eight clubs in the league.

Spokesmen for each team spoke with optimism. And with a new television contract coming up for 1965, the future seems brighter than ever—or so says the league.

Barron Hilton of the San Diego Chargers and K. S. (Bud) Adams of the Houston Oilers voiced the sentiment of the league in the matter of a common draft with the NFL. "I don't know where it will start or when it will come about, but it's bound to come around," said multi-millionaire Adams.

Adams explained that he had

American League Votes, 9 to 1 Against A's Move to Louisville

BY JOE REICHLER

NEW YORK (AP)—Charles O. Finley has been ordered by the American League to remain in Kansas City but the embattled owner of the Athletics baseball club vowed today to continue his fight to move the club despite a threat of expulsion.

The American League, by a vote of 9 to 1 Thursday night, turned down Finley's request to move the club to Louisville and, by the same vote, ordered him to sign a lease in Kansas City by Feb. 1 or forfeit the franchise.

"No one can and no one will take my ball club away from me," the fiery Finley roared defiantly. "I am not accepting the league's decision without a fight. "I don't think they have the right to force me to stay in a city where I have been continuously losing money. I will go to court to find out if the American League legally has the power to restrain me from moving my ball club to Louisville or any other place."

Stalked Out
In an informal press conference conducted minutes after he had stalked out of the nine-hour-long league meetings, Finley declared he intended to get an injunction, if possible, enabling him to go to Louisville.

The embattled baseball executive had signed a contract, subject to league approval, to play in Louisville in 1964 and 1965. Finley conducted the conference while perched on the top of a bureau in the suite of Kentucky Gov. Edward T. Breathitt, who headed a Louisville delegation supporting Finley.

"If it is legally possible to get an injunction whereby I can go to Louisville, you can rest assured I will do that," he said. "If I can't, I will go back to Kansas City and sign a lease for only as long as I have to—no more than one year."

Later in the conference, he amended this defiant attitude. "The more I think of it, the more I believe I may sign a longer term lease with Kansas City," he said. "What difference if the lease is for one year or five or even ten if it's subject to the court's decision? If the court rules in my favor, I can get out. If it rules against me, I'll stay stuck in Kansas City and like it."

Drastic Action

The announcement of the American League's drastic and unprecedented action was made by President Joe Cronin. After telling of the league's action ordering Finley to sign a lease in Kansas City by Feb. 1, Cronin read the resolution, which said in part:

"... Failing to that, a special meeting of the members of the league shall be called by the president as soon as convenient thereafter to consider and act upon the termination of the membership and/or expulsion from membership of Charles O. Finley and Co., Inc."

Cronin did not explain just how the league would expel Finley nor did he say whether the league would operate the club, seek another buyer or

Al Balding Has Early Lead in Crosby Tourney

International Cast Threatening to Dent U. S. Prestige

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif. (AP)—An international cast is threatening to shoot a dent into United States golf prestige in the Bing Crosby's $60,000 National Pro-Amateur Championship.

Foreigners held three of the first four places as the 72-hole tournament entered its second round today. Other invaders were in contention and an Irishman was running second in the pro-am phase of the competition.

Meanwhile, America's biggest names struggled.

Lanky Canadian Al Balding held the top spot with his 32-34-66. British Ryder Cupper Geoffrey Hunt squeezed in at 67 with Bobby Nichols of the United States. British Open champion Bob Charles of New Zealand was another stroke behind at 68.

10 Jammed at 69
The ten-man traffic jam at 69 included Australian Bruce Devlin. The Irishman running second in pro-am play was Christy O'Connor, who teamed with Bob Goldwater, the senator's brother, for a 61, three strokes behind leaders Mike Fetchick and Charlie Seaver.

Unofficial Louisville Reaction One of Relief

Effort Will be Continued to Get Major League Club

NEW YORK (AP)—Officially, the reaction was one of disappointment when Louisville failed in its bid to gain Kansas City's franchise in the American League.

Unofficially, it was a relief. "The reaction of the man in the street in Louisville is one of relief," Louisville sportscaster Mike Rerry telephoned Kansas City Thursday night.

"The thing just snowballed too fast and the mayor really didn't have time to check all of it. We didn't really want to take your ball club away from you. If we find any good ball players, we'll send 'em in care packages," he said.

Finley, the A's colorful, controversial owner, was ordered by the league to sign a lease in Kansas City by Feb. 1 or face possible expulsion from the league. Finley countered with a threat to take the league to court.

Signed Contract
He previously had signed a contract to move the team to Louisville without first gaining league permission, as is required. He was supported in the nine-hour meeting by a Louisville delegation headed by Kentucky Gov. Edward T. Breathitt. "We were awfully disappointed by the 9-1 vote against us," Breathitt said. "The Kentucky delegation appreciated the opportunity to present our proposal to the American League owners, despite the refusal. "We still feel Louisville would be a fine location for a major league club, and for the A's. "The entire delegation desires to continue our efforts to get a major league club to Louisville."

Finley said he has lost more than $1 million in three years at Kansas City. The club finished in eighth place last season.

"The Louisville delegation made a fine presentation," American League President Joe Cronin said. "Through the years, however, Kansas City has been fine for the league."

The Louisville delegation included U.S. senators John Sherman Cooper, and Thurston Morton, of Kentucky, U.S. Rep. M. C. Snyder, Louisville Mayor William O. Coward and Jefferson County Judge Marlow Cook.

RENSSELAIR, Ind. (AP)—Guard Ron Boguski of St. Joseph's College has signed a contract with the Green Bay Packers of the National Football League, he said Wednesday. The 6-foot-2, 225-pound line-man established an Indiana Collegiate Conference record last season by kicking a 50-yard field goal.

John Meunier fired a 252 game and a 659 series for individual honors in the Grocer's League and Ed Grassl had a 625 series at the 41 Bowl Thursday night. To share honors in the 41 Bowl Wilz Food Market (50-25-2) Classic League Thursday night, has a slim 1-game lead over WAPL in the league race.

play out the 1964 schedule with nine teams.

However, Thomas Keane, Finley's attorney, said he had read Section Four of the league constitution and it was his impression that the league could dispose of Finley as an "undesirable" if he did not meet the league requirements.

Finley said he had been advised by Cronin that the league could take the club away from him and operate it until a buyer would be obtained. In the meantime the league would give Finley whatever profits might be made or would charge Finley with whatever losses might accrue.

Belong to Finley

Upon completion of the sale, the money would, of course, belong to Finley.

Finley's acknowledgment that he would operate the Athletics in Kansas City, however reluctantly, pending court action, seemed to preclude any possibility of such extreme measures.

Finley said he had no idea whether the league's action would worsen his position in future negotiations with the City Council of Kansas City. A member of the City Council said, however, the committee would not seek to take advantage but instead would lean over backward to offer Finley an equitable lease arrangement. He did not say what the offer would be.

Negotiations up to now have been a series of complex wrangles concerning the new lease. The old one expired last Dec. 31.

The main point of disagreement between Finley and the City Council is Finley's insistence that he pay no rent if attendance in any one year falls below 900,000.

Appleton 'Y' Swimmers Tie For Second

The Appleton senior boys swimming team tied for second, in the state YMCA relays in Milwaukee. Green Bay won, with 40 points. Appleton and Oshkosh scored 16 each.

Appleton's relay team of John Hoover, Dick Kline, Scott Behrendt and Don Olson placed second in two events and third in another.

Appleton placed first in the bonus free style in the mixed age group. On the winning team were Mike Metz, Jim Erchal, Randy Bohon and Jim Fucik. Appleton was second in the bonus medley—with Bryan Jayne, Mike Moriarity, Pete Schultz and Doug White.

In the 9-10 year class, an Appleton unit placed third in the 200-yard free relay. The swimmers were Dave Hennig, George Behnke, Tim Moriarity and Eric Troge. In the same class, Appleton finished fourth in the 100-yard medley relay (with Behnke, Henning, Troge and Moriarity); fifth in the 100-yard backstroke relay (with Mike Metz, Scott Yankus, Todd Cannon and Jayne) and seventh in the 100-yard freestyle (with Jayne, Jeff Sinz, Metz and Cannon).

In the 13-14 class, Appleton's Fucik, Bob Maxwell, Pete Schultz and Dick Klein were seventh in the 200-yard medley relay. In the 200-yard medley for 11-12 year-olds, Appleton placed eighth with Bohon, Mourat, White and Jeff Lautenschlager.

Tom Hennessey Tops Qualifiers, Becomes Father

DALLAS (AP)—Tom Hennessey became the proud father of a baby boy Thursday night and also scored best in the opening day of qualifying at the All-Star Bowling Tournament.

While the rugged Irishman was compiling a four game series of 926 in the $100,000 world series of ten pins, his wife was delivering an 8 pound 8 ounce son 642 miles away in a St. Louis hospital.

Hennessey, current American Bowling Congress Classic singles and all-events champion, soared to the head of the 288 man field with games of 247, 218, 237 and 224.

Sunday Afternoon's Game: Green Bay at Rochester.

GREEN BAY — The United States Hockey League's best balanced offense, as represented by the Green Bay Bobcats, will confront Rochester's Mustangs this weekend in their bid to regain respectability.

The Bobcats, who now hold a tenuous half-game lead in the USHL race and four-game bulge on the last place Mustangs, will invade Rochester's Mayo Civic Auditorium Saturday night with seven skaters who are averaging better than one point per game.

Chief among these are stocky Gene Rebellato and his towering linemate, Darryl Wennechuk, who share the league scoring lead with 22 points. Rebellato, who has played in only nine games, also leads on an average basis with a 2.44 mark while Wennechuk is sixth in this category with a 1.57 average.

The other high scoring members of the Green Bay cast are John (Ivan) Ivanitz, averaging 1.38; Stu Anderson (1.29); Dick Dougherty (1.22); Pete Buchmann (1.14); and Hank Therrien (1.06).

The Bobcats, their task complicated by the absence of Bruce Shutte, who is touring Europe with an American all-star team, and by an injury to fellow defenseman, Gerry Frenette, must split the series in order to hold first place over the Waterloo Black Hawks, who will be idle.

down at Lakeside tonight and plays host to Northwestern Prep of Watertown Saturday night.

Tied For First

Fox Lutheran is currently tied with Lakeside's Warriors for the top rung in the BLC. FVL handed Winnebago Lutheran of Fond du Lac its only defeat of the season in December, 70-59, while tonight's hosts breezed to a 74-47 win over Manitowoc Lutheran.

Manitowoc Lutheran invades Winnebago Lutheran Academy in the other BLC action tonight. Lakeside currently has a 5-5 record. The Warriors bowed to the Northwestern Preps last Saturday, 65-51. FVL downed the Hornets in December, 74-56.

61-58 Win

Fox Lutheran's last victory was a 61-58 win over Milwaukee Concordia Friday, while the Preps lost to the Milwaukee school, 68-58, Tuesday night, and Lakeside was wallowed by the Falcons, 72-28.

Even though this win was gained by Concordia without the services of high-scoring guard Mark Kretzmann, FVL mentor Gerry Kanless is worried about the Warriors.

Lakeside upset FVL last year to gain a co-championship in the BLC, and the Warriors will be up for the game in their new home court, LL dedicated a new plant last fall.

5-9 Sharpshooter

Probably starters for Lakeside will include 5-9 sharpshooter Jim Buelow. Buelow, an All-Conference and All-Tournament guard, tied for the loop's scoring honors last year with 97 points, for an average of 16.1.

Other starters may be Jim Keach, a 5-7 running mate of Buelow at the guard slot, 6-2 Fred Hornby and 6-3 Alton Behlke at forwards and 6-0 Tom Farrell at center.

The Northwestern Preps currently have a 1-6 mark. Their only win came over Lakeside last Saturday.

Scouted by Lakeside

Although Kanless admits that the press terrorized the Preps in the first FVL-NWD encounter, which Lakeside scouted, the FVL coach feels certain that the press won't be as effective this time.

Starting for Fox Lutheran will be the regular quintet of Wayne Koenig and Lee Kiepkie at guards, Bob Krueger and Barry Wierschke at forwards and Don Arps at the center.

Koenig leads FVL scorers with 190 points in 10 games, hitting 83 field goals on 206 attempts for 40 per cent.

The other two members of FVL "K Korps" are 2-3 in Fox Valley Lutheran scoring. Lee Kiepkie has tallied 123 points for a 12.3 average, while Bob Krueger has tallied 87 markers.

Pacing Rebounders

Pacing Fox Lutheran rebounders are Don Arps with 101, while Krueger has 95 and Barry Wierschke has pulled down 69. Leading in other recoveries besides rebounds is Koenig with 21.

Lee "Kip" Kiepkie tops assists with 15, while Koenig has 12.

FVL has finally shaken off the injury bug, which has struck steadily since December. Top reserve Mark Dahlke will be able to suit up for both games, as the sophomore's blood clot has healed.

The Foxes have one of the top offensive averages in the area, totaling 716 points in 10 games, while holding their opponents to 59 per contest.

Lawrence '6' Set To Duel Hornets

The Lawrence College hockey team will play the Green Bay Hornets, of the Wisconsin State League, at 7:30 p.m. Saturday at Jones Park — if ice conditions permit.

In its latest match, Lawrence beat a team of Appleton all-stars 4-2. Vince Plantle scored a goal and an assist for Appleton. Lawrence goalie Steve Blair made 25 saves, and Appleton goalie Steve Good made 12.

Nixon Calls for Reappraisal In Some Areas and Says U. S. Must Not Falter in Canal Zone

BY FRANK J. AVATO PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Former Vice President Richard M. Nixon calling for "significant reappraisal and new direction" in some areas of U. S. foreign policy, says the United States must not retreat from its responsibilities in the Panama Canal Zone.

Nixon, in two speeches and a news conference, also said that under certain circumstances he would endorse a candidate for the Republican presidential nomination before the convention next July.

"My noncandidacy is a fact," he said.

Nixon made the foreign policy speech—one of a series he

Sen. Proxmire Denies Charge By Goldwater Calls Arizona 'Plain Wrong' in Spending Comment

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., challenged today a statement by Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., that President Johnson's first budget will call for increased spending.

"Goldwater is just plain wrong," Proxmire said.

Johnson will send his budget requests totaling $97.9 billion to Congress next week. The budget will be for the fiscal year starting July 1.

Proxmire said Goldwater has confused actual spending this year with the appropriations voted by Congress.

Lower Appropriations

"Both the Congress and the administration lowered appropriations in this fiscal year," Proxmire said. "But these cuts will be reflected largely in future years, not in the current year which is more than half over."

"Actual spending this year is made partly from past appropriations. This actual spending, as the President indicated in his State of the Union address, will be about $98.4 billion."

"The President's proposed spending of $97.9 billion for the forthcoming year is strictly comparable with the $98.4 billion of actual spending in the current year."

Goldwater contended that spending this year will be about $95 billion and the $97.9 billion proposed for next year represents an increase.

Stanford Exceeds Fund-Raising Goal Of $100 Million

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Stanford University announced Thursday it has exceeded its $100-million goal in its fund-raising campaign.

President Wallace Sterling said he believes the $109,235,101 is the largest single capital fund campaign ever conducted by a university.

The $109.2 million include a $25 million incentive grant from the Ford Foundation, which pledged one dollar for each three raised from private sources.

plans to deliver—at a banquet honoring Printing Week and the anniversary of Benjamin Franklin's birthday. He also visited briefly with about 200 Republican women at another dinner Thursday evening.

Zone Control
"The United States' control over the zone and canal are not subject to negotiations," Nixon said. "If the United States treats it will raise serious doubts about its bases around the world."

He said the Panama trouble "is more than an incident involving students," adding:

"There is no question that Communists in Panama were waiting for an issue. The fact that they were organized shows the problems we face in Latin America in dealing with the virus of communism and Castroism."

"We must set up a program, the ultimate objective being to bring (Premier Fidel) Castro (of Cuba) down."

New Canal
Nixon advocated construction of a new canal through Mexico or Nicaragua. He noted that the present canal would be a prime war target and also that some naval vessels are too large to pass through it.

On politics, Nixon said: "If any of the four candidates, or five, in my opinion shows clear superiority, and I believe an endorsement would be helpful in getting him the nomination and would give him a better chance of winning in November, I would endorse."

He didn't specify the candidates.

Smokers Are Turning to Pipe, Cigars

BY DARDEN CHAMBLISS NEW YORK (AP) — Many worried cigarette smokers, male and female, are turning to cigars and pipes, hoping they can learn to take nicotine in possibly safer forms.

Representatives of both the pipe and cigar industries report increased business since the U. S. surgeon general's report on smoking Saturday.

Hazard Stressed
The report stressed the hazard in inhalation; most cigar and pipe smokers don't inhale. Industry spokesmen had doubts about how permanent any switch might be, but reports of spurs, temporary or not, were widespread.

Walter E. Harris Jr., president of Alfred Dunhill Ltd. of London, said sales of pipes, cigars and pipe tobacco had gone up 60 per cent since the government report.

Pipe Sales
A spokesman for Kaywoodie Pipes, Inc., said there has been a flood of telegrams and phone calls with speed-up request on pipe orders.

Nat Sherman, who runs a cigar store in New York, said "I have never seen such a surge in business in 34 years."

The stock market reflected the new vogue, with shares of cigar companies rising sharply Thursday. General Cigar advanced $3.37, Consolidated Cigar $3.25 and D W G Cigar $1.37.

High Inventory Reason for AMC Layoff

Cut Represents 11 Per Cent of State Work Force

DETROIT (AP)—An auto industry source said Thursday high inventory in the industry was responsible for the decision of American Motors Corp. to suspend operations for a week, starting Jan. 27, and to return to production with a reduced work force.

AMC said Thursday it will lay off 1,700 workers at Milwaukee, where all Classic model bodies are built, and 1,200 at Kenosha, Wis., where all Ramblers are assembled, when operations are resumed Feb. 3. The cuts represent about 11 per cent of AMC's Wisconsin work force of 26,303.

Model-Mix
The company said the shutdown was necessary to correct "an unbalanced model-mix in production and field stocks." It added, "Our sales are running at record levels, but the reception of the new Rambler American has been so much stronger than anticipated that it is necessary to correct production and inventory balances...we anticipate an all-time record year for 1964."

Soon after the announcement, first shift workers on the body assembly and engine assembly lines at the Kenosha plant were sent home an hour early. No reason was given for the shortened shift, but there apparently was a slight production lag.

Booming Sales
Industry sources noted that while sales have been booming, production has been running well ahead for some time. As of Dec. 31, Ward's Automotive Reports, and industry statistical agency, said there were 951,000 new cars in dealer inventories, the highest since 1960.

Ward's said the supply on hand for Rambler dealers was estimated at 78 days, compared with an average of 38.1 days for the industry.

"What's happened," one source said, "is that there are too many cars in inventory and American Motors is simply cutting back, especially on the Classic series."

Teagarden Died Of Pneumonia

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The coroner's office says trombonist Jack Teagarden died of bronchial pneumonia.

Teagarden, 58, was found dead in his motel room Wednesday. An autopsy was performed Thursday.

His last performances had been played at the Dream Room, a Bourbon Street nightclub within earshot of his motel.

Fifth Candidate

WAUWATOSA (AP)—Republican Assemblyman Glen Pommerening, 36, Thursday became the fifth announced candidate of the office of Wauwatosa mayor, a post recently made a full time position with an annual salary of $15,000. He had announced earlier he would not seek reelection in the 20th Assembly District.

House Okays Change In Its Official Seal

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House of Representatives is out about to remove the Star of David from its official seal and take cognizance of the statehood of Alaska and Hawaii.

A resolution passed without opposition last Dec. 13 called for an outlay of about $700 to cut the die for a new Great Seal and procure a new mechanical gadget to impress the seal on official House papers and documents.

UAW Local Ends 8-Day Walkout At Buick Plant

FLINT, Mich. (AP)—In an almost unanimous show of hands, members of United Auto Workers Local 599 Thursday ratified a strike settlement ending an eight-day walkout of 15,000 workers at Buick division's largest plant.

Management said 11,000 workers would be recalled on Thursday's second and third shifts at the giant General Motors complex while the remaining 4,000 would return to work today.

Company officials said plans called for full operation on Saturday, except for the final assembly line, in order to resume the flow of parts to GM's five Buick, said the recall of about 11,000 workers would begin today.

The union had charged a work speed-up and other grievances and walked out Jan. 8, halting all production.

The company denied the charges and said the union was making unfair demands.

Immigration Law Is Discriminatory, Nelson Charges

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Gaylord Nelson, D-Wis., said Thursday that present immigration law discriminates against certain countries and races.

The senator said the McCarran-Walter Act smeared the nation's image abroad by parceling out annual quotas to nations on the "happenstance" of the time of the 1920 census.

Nelson commented at a hearing by the Senate immigration subcommittee, which then recessed. The committee has been considering immigration reforms. One would eliminate the quota system immediately, or over a five-year period. And one would establish a permanent commission to advise President Johnson on immigration problems.

Rocky and Goldwater Define Public Welfare Stands More Sharply

Views of Primary Opponents Clash on Causes of Problem

BY ROBERT T. GRAY MANCHESTER, N.H. (AP)—The conflict between Sen. Barry Goldwater and Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller over public welfare policy was more sharply defined today.

Rockefeller said repeatedly during a campaign tour in New Hampshire Thursday that racial discrimination in education and employment was a major cause of welfare cases.

The New York governor said the Arizona senator was "a Southern leader" who did not understand that.

Primary Opponents Rockefeller and Goldwater are opponents for the Republican presidential nomination and are competing in the New Hampshire presidential primary, the first in the nation, to be held March 10.

Wednesday night, Goldwater called for a government investigation of whether "the attitude or the action" of relief recipients was a reason for their dependence on the taxpayers. He said there always would be a poverty class and "the mere fact of having little money" should not entitle anyone to be maintained permanently by the government.

Rockefeller moved across southern New Hampshire in a 12-hour tour in which he: Engaged in a spirited, impromptu debate with Jon Pate, 22, a sophomore at Keene State College, who argued that Rockefeller believed in advancing the welfare state, Rockefeller countered there was "a difference between socialism and human concern," but Pate quipped that "you are a Robin Hood in a grey flannel suit."

Shakes Hands
Pumped thousands of hands, signed hundreds of autographs and ran briefly alongside a moving school bus to grasp the hands of some riders. Autographed with a smile but no comment a copy of Goldwater's book, "Conscience of a Conservative," which was proffered by Marvel Chabot, 17. She explained later that she had acted for a friend and "I didn't know what I was doing."

Denied he had distorted Goldwater's positions on major issues, as charged by the senator and said Goldwater "doesn't remember what he has said."

Opened a campaign headquarters in Manchester, then returned to New York City.

Air Force Launches Minuteman Missile
VANDEMBERG AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP)—A Strategic Air Command combat crew launched a Minuteman intercontinental ballistic missile Thursday, the Air Force announced, March 10.

Air Force spokesmen said the operational missile was the 27th Minuteman launched from this West Coast space center.

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP)—A Minuteman missile Thursday night completed a 5,000-mile flight designed primarily to check warhead performance.

The Air Force reported the rocket hit a target in the South Atlantic Ocean. It was launched from an underground pit at Cape Kennedy.

Signs Indicate True Indian Race Blending With White, Charlie Says

Dispute Deeper Than Emotion

BY CHARLES HOUSE
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

When a full-blood Indian baby is born, he bears a characteristic bluish-colored spot on the small of his back. Gradually the spot fades away and is gone by the time he is a few years old. Called the "Mongolian spot," the marking is common among Asian peoples. . . .

The teeth of a full-blood Indian also is a form of identification (although some authorities have reservations on the subject). In an Indian, the incisor teeth are shovel-shaped on the reverse side. That characteristic is sometimes accepted as final proof in determining the identity of a human skull.

Many — perhaps most — anthropologists readily accept the shape of incisor teeth in an unknown skull as fair "proof" that the skull is that of an Indian. . . .

The original Indian language — principally the Algonquian which is the language of the Menominees — is remarkably pretty in sound; but it contains none of the "labial" letters for which one must close his lips.

Language Peculiarity

For example, the Algonquian language has no letter - sounds like B, F, M, P, V and W. Hence, an Indian who speaks pure Algonquian could converse fluently without ever closing his lips on a word or letter. . . .

The early French people of these regions decided that it would be impossible to teach an Algonquian Indian how to speak French because the Indians could not form the labial movements required for the use of the language. . . .

One scholar of the 1960's reported that when an Algonquian attempted to form the word for "good" (bon), he could say only "owan." And when he tried to say "child" (fils), he could say only "kil". . . .

Now, with these three characteristics as a background, I offer the theory that this section of the country is running out of Indians — the original kind.

Melding With Whites

I am aware that the Indian is among the fastest - growing ethnic groups in the United States. At least in recent years. Nevertheless, I am pointing out what is — at least — my growing belief that the true Indian is marching into the white race. This, of course, is his fate and I do not blame him if he is repelled by the thought. But it is natural and it has happened untold numbers of times—that the minority is sooner or later swallowed into the majority. It is the ancient, unwritten rule of the world; it just happens. . . .

For my unscholarly "proof" that the true Indian as such is fading into the white race, I offer these casual observations: I have talked with two medical men whose work and region permit them to observe. Most of the babies delivered by the two men are Indians. . . .

Both tell me that the "Mongolian spot" is now very rare among Indian babies — a rare enough to cause much comment among them. Most Indian babies delivered by them have no such spot. . . .

Teeth Characteristic

I have discussed the teeth characteristic with two dentists who list among their patients a large percentage of Indians, and I discussed it also with a third dentist who has an occasional Indian patient. . . .

None of them has noticed any difference, they tell me, in the shape of incisor teeth of their

of an Indian speaking Algonquian. (I cannot speak Algonquian).

Speech Degenerating

But I have listened to the mellifluous flow of the language at numerous tribal meetings, and I have observed as carefully as a careful observer can listen and watch. And, without serious question, I have heard many consonants and I have observed much closing of the lips over word sounds. . . .

I therefore think that the language is degenerating into a polyglot Indian-Anglo-Saxon. So there is my "proof" such as it is. And long ago, during the presidency of Andrew Jackson, it was deemed that the long range program to end the "Indian problem" was to permit the red man to amalgamate with the white. . . .

I suggest that the deed is all easy to break down the words but done.

Acts as Buffer

Nehru's Illness Adds to Daughter's Importance

BY HENRY S. BRADSHAW

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—Prime Minister Nehru's illness increases the importance of the woman at his side, Indira Gandhi. . . .

As Nehru's only child and closest companion, the 46-year-old widow has long supervised the living habits of the 74-year-old Mrs. Gandhi, widower in an effort to protect his health. . . .

Since a new sickness struck Nehru 10 days ago she has sought to increase her effectiveness as his buffer against the world. Nehru must be spared the kind of excitement that the pressing problems of India often create for him. . . .

Screens Visitors Mrs. Gandhi warns the few top officials who see Nehru not to tell him of some things. When the Calcutta religious violence began last week she kept him from him at first and later tried to get Home Minister Gulzarilal Nanda to keep discussion of the subject brief. . . .

Nanda and Finance Minister T. T. Krishnamachari have taken over Nehru's routine duties as a temporary arrangement. Doctors have ordered Nehru to rest for a month or more and they reportedly do not expect to be able to allow him to resume his hard-driving schedule of the past. . . .

Deputy Possible This situation has created the possibility of a deputy prime minister as well as renewed talk of who will be the next prime minister. Here, too, Mrs. Gandhi is important. . . .

She has always said she has no political ambitions. Retirement to social work in some small town would be more to her liking, Mrs. Gandhi insists. Nonetheless she is much discussed as a possible successor to her father. Some Indian polit-

U. S.-Panama Dispute Deeper Than Emotion

Diplomatic Skill Could Have Avoided Outbreak of Violence

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON—It may seem easy to conclude that the dispute between the United States and the Republic of Panama is merely a case of excessive emotionalism about flying national flags — but the controversy goes deeper. . . .

The basic cause is a feeling of discouragement among Panamanians who see no economic future for themselves except as it is related to potential income from the use of the canal. . . .

When national pride, however, complicates an international problem, there are always opportunities for provocative action and the intensification of bitterness. . . .

The people of Panama originally leased their territory for an interoceanic canal. The United States built the waterway and has been collecting tolls from the ships of all nations. But the Republic of Panama gets less than $2 million a year rent. It used to be only $250,000. Surely in the 50 years since the canal has been operating it would seem that the United States could afford to increase considerably more its annual payment, especially in these days of "foreign aid" to many countries, which do not furnish any facility to the United States as useful as the Panama Canal has been, including its military value in World War I and World War II. . . .

There are economic improvements which can be made after proper negotiation. But since there's an election campaign going on inside the Republic of Panama, it is customary for national sensitiveness to be expressed in the political arena. On top of this, the Americans who live in the Canal Zone have families with teen-age students who naturally have a feeling of patriotism about flying the American flag. . . .

American Flag For many years, only the American flag was flown inside the Canal Zone—which is leased permanently to the United States. Then the demand was made that the Panamanian flag should also be flown. And in January 1963 it was agreed that the Panamanian flag would fly side by side wherever the U.S. flag was flown by civilian authorities in the zone. In the first week of this year, the U.S. flag was hauled down from a number of sites—including the high schools—which had not been designated for the joint flying of the two flags. For some strange reason, no explanation of this order—that no flag be flown—was made to the zone residents. The while squabble was mis-handled. . . .

Disturbance Inevitable It was inevitable that there would be disturbances about the flying of the flags. What was surprising, however, was the action of the Panamanian president in ordering diplomatic relations severed. This gave an opportunity to the Castro agents, Communists and other disturbers of the peace to capitalize on the disorders and bring about an international furor. . . .

The United States was disposed to go along and open the whole controversy to diplomatic

Freedom Firemen Answer 3 Calls to Vehicle Blazes

FREEDOM—Ed Vandenberg, Freedom volunteer fire department chief, reports he and his men answered two automobile fire calls Tuesday evening, and a fuel oil truck fire Jan. 10. . . .

The first Tuesday call, at 9:15 a. m., was to County Trunk E.E., one mile south of County Trunk S, where County Patrolman Russell Bowers' car was on fire. . . .

At 10:15 p. m. Tuesday, firemen answered a call to the Ed Hendricks farm in the Town of Freedom. When the Hendricks car was started, the motor caught fire. The fire was put out before firemen arrived. Damage was minor. . . .

At 11:45 a. m. Jan. 10, the department answered a call to the Marvin Vanden Havel Tavern, in the Town of Oneida. Here a fuel truck owned and operated by Raymond Thyssen, route 3, Appleton, was on fire. The cab's wiring and carburetor ignited but the gas line tanks did not. The estimated damage was unknown. . . .

Degrees Required

reached as the Panamanians said the United States had agreed to "negotiate," whereas the Washington officials said it was an agreement only to "discuss," not to negotiate. This led to bad feeling, too. For a readiness to discuss is, of course, an obvious forerunner of negotiation—though not necessarily of concession. The flare-up and threats of a continued suspension in diplomatic relations thereupon didn't make things any easier inside the United States, where public opinion also happens to have some sensitiveness, especially as a political campaign is under way here, too. . . .

Diplomatic Skill Skillful handling by diplomats could have averted the whole mix-up and could have produced a statement from which both countries could derive some satisfaction. It is obvious that what is involved is not merely relations with Panama but the impact as well on other Central and South American countries, particularly since there is always a tendency in Latin countries to raise the cry of "Yankee imperialism." . . .

The United States can afford to be generous to the Republic of Panama, but cannot allow itself to be dragged or pressured into policies forced by street riots or public denunciations. . . .

The Panama canal itself is slowly growing obsolete. It cannot take care of certain sized ships. Another canal may have to be built across Nicaragua, perhaps before another six years have passed. So the Republic of Panama would do well to watch its step and exercise self-control. For whatever needs to be done to help Panama can be achieved by the Panamanian government without letting the United States get into the awkward position of seemingly being blackmailed into making "concessions." If ever there was an international controversy that called for patience and self-restraint as well as generous impulses on both sides, it is the dispute that has arisen between Panama and the United States. Fortunately, it presents by no means an insoluble problem. (Copyright, 1964)

Green Bay Youths

Three Charged With Burglary in Chilton

CHILTON — Three Green Bay teenagers, charged with burglarizing a Dundas tavern, were being held here today in lieu of $1,500 bond each. . . .

The youths, Joseph Thvorn, 18, Richard Wendricks, 18, and Jackie Mills, 17, were arraigned before D. H. Sebara late Thursday morning. Juvenile authorities waived jurisdiction on Mills. . . .

They are accused of taking between $300 and $400 dollars in cash, 27 half pints, eight or more quarts and one or more fifths of liquor, old coins dating back to 1882, five cartons of cigarettes, one box of cigars and two revolvers. . . .

Break-In Reported The break-in was reported at 12:55 a. m. Wednesday, C. J. Kosmosky, Calumet County sheriff, said. It reportedly took place about 7 p. m. Tuesday. The establishment, owned by Harry Walschlaeger, is closed Tuesdays. . . .

Entry was made through a second story rear window, authorities said. Access to the window was gained from the roof of a porch. . . .

The burglars went to the ground floor and ransacked the tavern. A garbage can was emptied and used to carry off the loot. . . .

First Clues First clues discovered by authorities were tire tracks around the rear of the building. Plaster casts were taken and the rear tires were found to be different types. The description of the car was obtained from the tavern owners who had seen it in the vicinity. . . .

Green Bay authorities were notified and the youths picked up. At that time there was not sufficient evidence to hold them, and they were released. . . .

After questioning Mrs. Walschlaeger, police found the name of one of the youths. Calumet authorities contacted Green Bay police and had the boys arrested. Most of the loot has been recovered. . . .

Grange Head Cites Income Problems

Bringing More of Food Dollar To Food Producer Vexes Top Farm Groups, Says C. J. Davis

BY DON KAMPFER
Post-Crescent Farm Editor

GREENVILLE — The problem is the same. Only the approaches to a solution are different.

What is vexing all major farm organizations is: How to get more of the consumer food dollar to the food producer, the farmer?

C. Jerome Davis, Indiana State Grange Master and field assistant to the organization's national head, advocated a cautious and well-planned approach when he addressed Central Wisconsin Grange representatives at an area conference here Wednesday.

Parity Program

Davis attacked the tactics but not the objectives of a patriot group, the National Farm Organization (NFO). "Whatever the solution is, it is not being accomplished by NFO maneuvering," Davis said, but added, "I am, however, in full accord with their objectives."

The Grange's domestic parity program, inaugurated "a little at a time." Davis felt holds promise of getting for the farmer what it feels is a fair share of the consumer dollar. Davis urged a continuing educational program to better enable the rural community to successfully argue its case.

Hard work and education hold the key, he said.

"Why is it that it's called 'good business' when the grocer figures in his costs, overhead and profit before pricing his merchandise but if the farmer asks to operate on a similar basis it is called 'Un-American'?" he questioned. Davis suggested that the "Un-American" tag resulted from such a system's upset of the democratic

'Big Cheese'

Denmark Man to Make World's Fair Cheddar

DENMARK—The world's largest cheese, destined to be displayed for two years at the New York World's Fair, will be manufactured here starting midnight, Monday, it was announced today.

Roland C. Behle, managing director of the Wisconsin Cheese Foundation, Madison, said production of the gigantic 34,561-pound mammoth cheddar would be under the direction of Steve Suidzinski, nationally known mammoth cheese expert who has produced many huge cheeses for Wisconsin promotions in the past. This cheese, Behle said, would be Suidzinski's biggest effort, and will be the largest cheese ever made in the United States, surpassing one made in 1918 which weighed 31,232 pounds. Suidzinski's biggest cheddar to date is a 15,085 pounder made about four years ago and used in a California supermarket promotion for the Wisconsin Department of Agriculture.

Plans for the 17½ ton World's Fair cheese call for it to be manufactured in block shape approximately 14½ feet long, 6½ feet wide and five feet, eight inches high.

Barring inclement weather conditions which could have an effect on the operation, the cheese will take 60 hours to finish, Suidzinski said. Teams of cheesemakers will work around the clock until the project is completed, Behle said. Some 26 cheesemakers will be involved in the project.

Behle said plans now call for the cheese to leave Wisconsin early in April on its way to the World's Fair opening on April 22. The cheese, which will be on display at the Fair through Sept. 15, then would make "personal appearances" around the country in the fall of 1964 and spring of 1965, before being returned to the Fair for a second year.

Calumet Sets Food-Nutrition Leader Training

CHILTON—Two training sessions for 4-H leaders teaching advanced foods and nutrition will be presented in Calumet County, according to Joan Prochnow, county home agent.

The meetings are set for Jan. 23. One will be held at 1:30 p.m. at the courthouse assembly room and the other at 7:45 p.m. at the Forest Junction Grade School.

The importance of breakfast will be stressed during the training sessions.

$7.7 Million Invested in Farm Surplus

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department reported today its Commodity Credit Corporation had $7,741,146,203 invested in reserve and surplus farm products as of Nov. 30. This was virtually the same as a year earlier when the investment was $7,742,192,059.

The department estimated, however, that it will take a loss of $1,324,461,000 on this investment. Often these products are sold for less than they cost the government under farm price support programs. Storage and handling costs also reduce the ultimate net return.

The report showed that the corporation had sustained losses of $1,215,103,739 during the July-November period of the current fiscal year. This compared with $923,763,611 in the like period a year earlier.

Included in the list of losses were payments by the CCC to farmers for cooperating with the department's wheat and feed grain programs for holding down plantings.

Seek Foreign Market for Farm Products

WASHINGTON (AP) — Uncle Sam and organized farm commodity groups are doing a giant size job of advertising American agricultural products abroad.

In an activity largely overshadowed by other farm program activities, they have spent well over $100 million since late 1955 to call attention of consumers in various parts of the world to this country's food and fiber products. The money is being spent to develop present and future markets.

This broad-gauged activity is comparable to expenditures made by industrial concerns in this country to build markets for a new product.

In a cooperative enterprise involving the Agriculture Department and private farm commodity organizations, nearly 800 market development projects have been inaugurated during the last eight years.

The department gives these activities much credit for the increase in farm exports in recent years. Officials expect these programs to develop sound, long-term cash markets, particularly in the more industrialized countries.

Consolidate Activities Of Agriculture Section

New Division Created for Dissemination Of Information Under Donald Wilkinson

A reassignment of activities within the Wisconsin State Department of Agriculture has resulted in the creation of an Information Division. The recommendation was voted unanimously at the December meeting of the State Board of Agriculture, and will go into effect January 1, 1964.

Consolidated in the division will be the following activities: Federal-State statistical work (now the Agriculture Statistics Division) public information; the Alice - in - Dairyland program; economic evaluation; supervision of the matched funds phase of the Federal Marketing Act; co-ordination of rural areas development work with the Agricultural Extension Service; and rural-urban relations.

In commenting on the change, Director Donald N. McDowell said that it was consistent with Board policy to continually evaluate work of the Department with a view toward increased efficiency and elimination of certain duplications and overlapping functions.

Better Coordination

"We feel, too," he said, "that the new division will provide a better coordination of information services for the entire department."

Named to head the new division was Donald E. Wilkinson, who has served as chief of the Marketing Division since 1955.

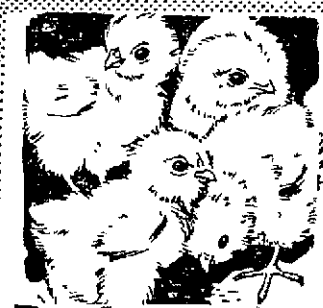

Robert Thayer, livestock marketing specialist with the department for the past eight years was promoted to fill the vacancy as Marketing Division Chief.

Wilkinson joined the department in 1948. He was radio supervisor, information supervisor and head of the promotion section until named to head the Marketing Division. A 1947 graduate of the University of Wisconsin in agricultural education, Wilkinson taught vocational agriculture at Waukesha for one year, before joining the department. He is president of the National Association of Marketing officials and a member of the USDA Marketing Advisory Committee. He is a native of Benton, Wisconsin, where the Wilkinson family still farms. He is married and has three children.

Association Secretary

Thayer became a member of the department in 1953 after seven years of vocational agriculture teaching at Johnson Creek and Whitewater. A native of the latter city, he graduated from River Falls State College in 1946 with a BS degree in agricultural education. Besides his work as a livestock marketing specialist, he is also secretary of the Wisconsin Livestock Breeders' Association. He has been instrumental in the success of the Junior Livestock Expositions, the Beef Futurity and the Spring Market Hog Show. His family still farms in the Whitewater area. He is married and has four children.

With the promotion of Thayer, the State Department of Agriculture is seeking a livestock marketing specialist to fill the vacancy created by the promotion.

Food Fails to Keep Pace With Population

Per Capita Supply Average Less Than Past Fiscal Year

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department predicted Tuesday an increase in world food production during the current fiscal year will fail to match the increase in population.

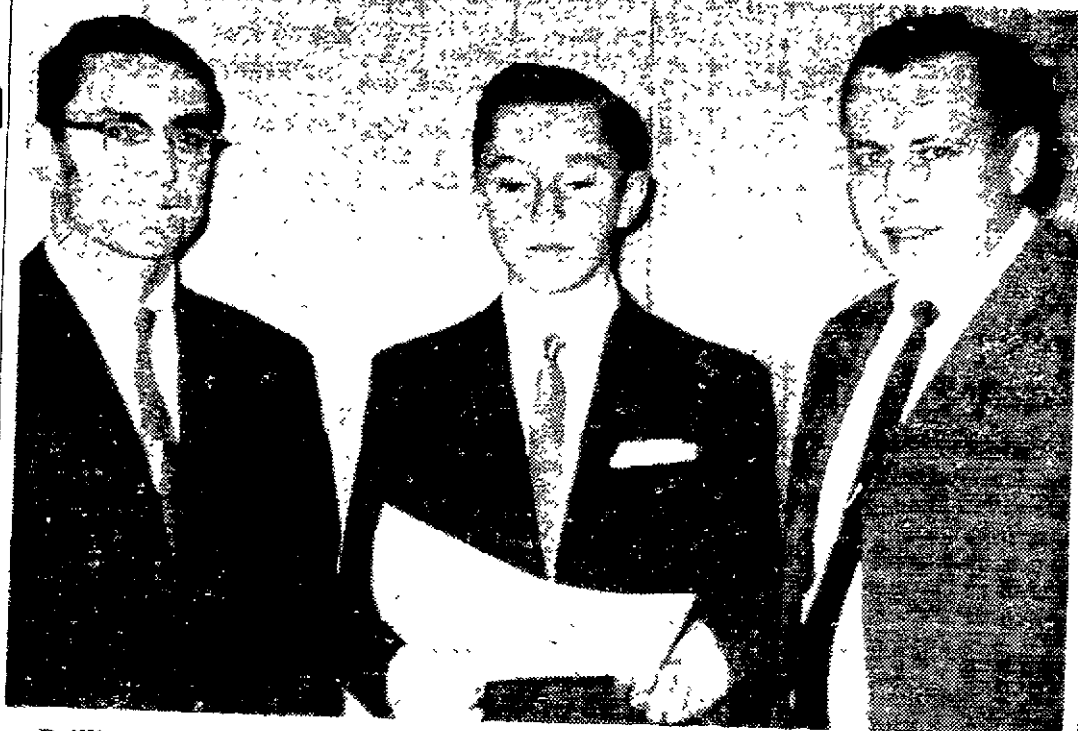

Reporting on a worldwide survey, the department said agricultural production will be up less than 1 per cent compared with 2 per cent increase in world population. Thus, the per capita supply of food will average smaller than during the 1962-63 fiscal year.

This per capita decline is being reflected, it said, in the strengthening of prices of some farm products. And the long range view is for increasing exports of U.S. farm products.

"Changes in world output of most major farm products in 1963-64 are generally moderate compared with the previous year," the report said. "For no important category of commodities is there a major change in the general production."

Slight Uptrend

The exception to the continued slight uptrend in production was said to be in Eastern Europe, especially the Soviet Union. For the fifth year production in the latter country has

Brillion Jaycees Give Calf Award

Lyle Ott Named Winner of Registered Holstein by Judges

BRILLION — Lyle Ott won this year's Brillion Junior Chamber of Commerce calf award.

A registered Holstein heifer is awarded each year to the most deserving freshman vocational agriculture student. This is the fifth year the Jaycees have made the award.

The qualify for the calf award, the boy is judged on his reasons for wanting a calf, his sincerity toward school work, his devotion to the farm and farm life, his previous work in 4-H and other farm youth organizations, participation in county and state fairs, and his desire to continue farming.

Judging is done by five FFA boys under the supervision of David Wotho, Brillion High School vocational agriculture instructor.

Return First Calf

Under the award rules, the first calf of the animal presented is to be returned to the Brillion Jaycees. It is to be a registered Holstein heifer of equal pedigree to the one awarded.

Previous winners were 1959,

Donald Braun, now taking an agriculture short course at the University of Wisconsin; 1960, Dale DeVillers; 1961, Charles Bernhardt, who plans to continue farming and attend a short course, and 1962, Wesley Hedrick, who plans to continue in agriculture.

Orlo Koerth was the Jaycee in charge of the calf award project. Donald Emmer made the presentation at the recent Jaycee meeting.

Nation's Egg-Laying Flock Down 100,000

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's egg-laying flock Jan. 1 totaled 307,468,000 hens, down 100,000 from a year earlier.

Reporting this, the Agriculture Department said there were increases of 7 per cent in the south central states and 6 per cent in both the West and South Atlantic areas. Decreases were 9 per cent in the west north central states, 4 per cent in the east north central and 3 per cent in the North Atlantic areas.

Potential for Recreation Is Discussion Topic

Members of the Wisconsin Chapter of the Soil Conservation Society of America will discuss the problem of developing our nation's recreational potential at their 10th annual meeting here Jan. 17 in the University of Wisconsin Center Building.

Speakers scheduled for the program will seek answers to challenges in outdoor recreation, define present needs, and explore the areas of conflicting interests.

H Clifton Hutchins, professor of education at the University of Wisconsin and a recent president of the American Recreation Association, will discuss the growing demand for outdoor recreation. Ernest Swift, conservation director for the National Wildlife Federation, will speak on the responsibilities of government agencies in development of recreational opportunities.

The program will also feature talks by William Loomer, University of Wisconsin agricultural economist, on trends in recreational land use; Harold Jordahl, regional coordinator of resource development, U.S. Department of Interior, discussing a perspective for outdoor recreational programs; and Edward Kozicky, director of conservation at Nilo Farms near East Alton, Ill., speaking on the opportunities for private development of recreational facilities.

Many Forces Cloud Demand for Lumber

Lumber production in the U.S. and Wisconsin is gradually increasing with prospects for slightly greater demand in 1964. But the picture is complicated on many fronts by such forces as foreign competition, substitution for traditional lumber uses, and elimination of small saw mills, says W. B. Lord, University of Wisconsin forest economics specialist.

Hardwood lumber production grew 15 per cent in the nation last year. However, Wisconsin has lagged behind in this movement due to elimination of small saw mills in the state, says Lord.

Hardwood Markets

Hardwood lumber markets have expanded with growth of the wood furniture industry, and with a continuing swing to use of hardwood pellets for materials handling. An increase in the hardwood flooring market during 1963 also contributed.

Hardwood lumber markets should strengthen further in 1964, perhaps with some spotty price increases, says Lord. But the improvement may not be so pronounced in Wisconsin as other states.

Softwood lumber production gained only two per cent in 1963. Demand will likely remain low due to substitution of plywood and other products, and to the increasing competition of imported Canadian lumber.

Recent appearance of growing markets has resulted in impressive growth in hardwood veneer and plywood markets. Growing markets include flush doors, furniture, mobile homes and paneling.

United States production of hardwood veneer and plywood have not increased as rapidly as the markets due to imports from the Philippines, Japan, Taiwan, Canada and Finland. Only a modest increase of U.S. production is expected in 1964.

Hardwood veneer log demand has been steady in Wisconsin, despite slowly falling production in state veneer and plywood plants. Production cut-backs have been made at the expense of out-of-state importers, who normally supply about half the veneer logs.

State prices for veneer logs will change very little in 1964. Prices for oak have been increasing slightly, and maple prices dropping somewhat.

Sound Frequency Variation May Aid in Bee Study

Variations in sound frequency and loudness help to explain the interesting communications system used by the honey bee, a Green Bay, science teacher reported at Cleveland Dec. 29, at the annual meeting of the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

R. E. Showers, science department chairman at East High School, reported on research conducted by himself and F. E. Moeller, U.S. Department of Agriculture bee scientist at the University of Wisconsin, under a research grant from the National Science Foundation.

The researchers made sound recordings of normal bee hive sounds. Careful studies of those recordings indicate it may be possible to use sound waves or other types of vibrations to calm the bees while working on the hives, to move bees out of the hive or to increase productivity.

Clear Shift

Recordings showed a clear shift of frequency among the bees when the chore changed, Showers said. The lowest frequency — lowest pitched buzz—was in the part of the hive where the bees were returning from the field. The highest frequency for the normal hive chores was where the bees were capping honey. The highest frequency of all was for bees subjected to smoke. This correlated well with increased fanning when smoke filled the hive.

Sounds from 200 to 1,200 cycles per second will "stop" bees — calm them.

This cessation of activity was great enough that the researchers were able to use sound as a substitute for smoke on three occasions to work the hives.

Showers said bees sense sound through the vibrations of whatever they're standing on — not through sound waves in the air. The bee's forelegs are either necessary for reception of the vibrations or for transmitting the vibrations to the sensitive organs.

Lake Superior, the most northerly of the five Great Lakes, is the largest body of fresh water in the world.

Feed Requirements Outlined At Winnebago Swine School

OSHKOSH — Basic feeding requirements, particularly the gestation rations for gilts and sows, were outlined by Fred Geisler, extension livestock specialist, at the fourth and final meeting of the county swine school Tuesday at Winnebago.

Daily gain of one pound is expected for 300-pound gilts which should get not more than six pounds of feed per day. Approximately one pound of protein is a daily requirement. During the gestation period, the gilt should not gain more than 114 pounds, Geisler said.

Daily feed requirements for a heavier sow are greater but the daily gain and maximum gain during gestation should be less.

Full Feeding

He reported the amount of feed given to hogs has a direct relationship to the embryo survival and litter size. Full feeding prior to breeding is desirable and then the animal should be placed on a limited feeding program until farrowing time, he suggested.

Limestone and trace mineral salts should be required in every hog ration, although it should never exceed 1.5 per cent of the total ration, the commercial swine producers were told. It is always desirable to keep in mind the per centage of protein in balancing hog rations, Geisler said. Weanling pigs require a ration of about 18 per cent protein. As the pigs gain weight the protein content can be reduced to a minimum of about 12 per cent. This amount is satisfactory after the animals have reached a weight of 125 pounds.

Discussion leaders for the course, arranged by Farm Management Agent Donald Tripp, were University of Wisconsin Extension specialists and resource personnel from the Milwaukee Livestock Foundation.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Feeding of sheep and lambs for the slaughter market has declined in recent months.

The Law and You

Strict Liability Applies if Man-Made Danger Involved

Ordinarily a person can be made to pay damages for injuries he causes only if he was negligent. If an accident happened, but no one was at fault, no one can be held liable. For example, if a sudden, unexpected high wind blows a perfectly sound roof off your garage onto a neighbor's car, it is unlikely that you could be held negligent.

There is one general exception to this rule. Some activities are inherently so dangerous that a man acts at his peril if he engages in them. A good example is blasting with high explosives. Here the rule of strict liability applies.

Thus under 20th century law there may be liability without fault for certain activities. Even though a defendant is engaged in an enterprise permitted by law and conducted with all due care, he may cause irreducible risks of harm to others and therefore be held strictly liable for whatever harm is caused.

In cases involving the use of explosives the courts have generally held that "you blast at your peril." In another case, persons fumigating a building with a noxious poison were held liable for personal injury from escaping gas.

The law applies the principle of strict liability to protect the innocent and blameless. It puts the burden on those whose activities are of such a dangerous nature that their activities must be made to carry the risk.

Such extra risks are usually insured against. Otherwise many useful and necessary activities could not be carried on at all simply because those so engaged could not afford to take the risk of possible damage.

Don't Buy Any Spreader Till You See the JOHN DEERE "33" DAIRY SPREADER

The low profile, the big capacity, and the clean design of the John Deere 33 Dairy Spreader is just what you have been looking for and its low cost will please you.

With 20 inch wheels, the 33 spreader is only 47 inches high . . . extra low for use with a barn cleaner. The 52 inch width makes it easier and faster to fill the 33 Spreader with an overhead track manure conveyor. You save time anyway you handle manure.

The 33 Spreader has a combination beater wide spread with aggressive diamond-shaped teeth welded to the outer edge of right and left turning spirals. These teeth pull the manure inward and upward so there's no building up or packing in wet or freezing weather.

This 139 bushel spreader is completely PTO powered. It can be unloaded standing still if you prefer to sack your manure instead of spreading during the winter.

Foreign Cattlemen Feed More Sorghum

Wool Program Deadline Set

CHILTON—The 1963 wool payment program marketing year ended Dec. 31, according to Herbert Goeldi, Calumet County ASCS committee chairman.

Applications can be made at the ASCS office in the Chilton City Hall for incentive payment for lambs shorn between April 1, 1963 and Dec. 31. They should be made before Jan. 30 Goeldi said. Sales slips must accompany applications.

Last year 34 wool producers filed for the payments on shorn wool and received an incentive payment of 30 cents on the dollar for net sales proceeds. Eleven producers filed for payment for unshorn lambs which they sold and received 57 cents per hundred pounds for unshorn lambs they sold.

Research Proves Hybrid Bee Idea

Twenty-five years of research at the University of Wisconsin has proven that hybrid bees make more honey.

F. E. Moeller and C. L. Farabee, beekeepers, reported that annual yield of 207 pounds per hive. Bees found wild in nature give only 25 to 35 pounds of salar, US Department of Agriculture bee specialists say that their best stocks had an average of 100 pounds per hive each year. The superior stock yield is also over three times as much as common stocks yield. Colonies kept by commercial bee men in Wisconsin, Illinois, Minnesota, and Iowa averaged only 66 pounds each season.

The researchers pointed out that some individual colonies produced much more than the strain average. The best hives of the superior strains averaged 292 pounds over the 25 year period.

It takes more time and better care to maintain hybrid bees, but these tests make it clear that they pay the beekeeper well for his "pampering."

take part in Fox Valley Holstein Association activities, sponsor a full-time fieldman for dairy problems, promote the sale of good Holstein cattle with sales services through the Fox Valley unit, sponsor purebred calves for 4-H projects, encourage junior Holstein projects, sponsor the annual tours by 4-H and FAA units, push for participation in the Black and White Show and sponsor a twilight meeting.

Hosts for the twilight session will be Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Long, route 1, Weyauwega. Long and Arnold Spiegelberg were named to the Fox Valley Association's board of directors.

Featured speaker was Ray Brubacker, manager of the well-known Lakeside Farms, Elkhart Lake. Brubacker was Holstein judge at the International Livestock Exposition, Chicago.

Calumet Club Studies Activity Calendar

CHILTON — A calendar of events for the new year was presented to members of the Rural Rockets 4-H club at its January meeting.

Preparing the schedule of activities were Diane Krebsbach, president; George Gerner, vice president; Mary Ann Schaefer, secretary; Doris Lavey, reporter; Mary Ellen Krebsbach, treasurer; Ruby Lavey, game leader and the club's two leaders.

Plans for the group's square dance troupe entry in the county music festival were completed.

Consider Cutting Losses When Buying Beef Portions

When you buy beef sides or quarters, consider the cutting loss in turning them into nutritious meat cuts.

In reporting results of studies made by Ed Uvacek, livestock specialist at Texas A & M, pointed out it takes about 2.16 pounds of choice grade live animal to produce one pound of Choice Beef.

If you're buying a side of beef, first determine the price of major retail cuts at your local supermarket, he says.

These cuts are: Rib roast, which makes up 8 per cent of the carcass; chuck roast 19 per cent; ground beef 18 per cent; T-bone and porterhouse steak 6 per cent; round steak 10 per cent; rump roast 5 per cent; sirloin 8 per cent, and stew beef 6 per cent.

Add Costs

Then add individual costs together and divide the total by 80 per cent which gives you the carcass purchase weight minus the bone, fat and cutting loss. To compare this total retail price with the side of beef you're buying first divide the price per pound by 80 and add the price of five cents a pound for storage.

When buying a side or quarter of beef, make sure that the same grade is priced in both cases, Uvacek said.

Storage costs may vary, but cutting and wrapping is assumed to be included in the original quoted carcass price given by the dealer.

Also, many low-priced cuts such as flank, plate, brisket and short ribs are included in the ground meat or stew meat percentages.

Theobald, 33,
New Reference
Bureau Chief

Former West Berlin
Newspaperman: Pay
Will be $13,000

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
MADISON—A naturalized German who developed a professional interest in governmental affairs as a newspaperman in Berlin after World War II has been elevated to the key staff job in the Wisconsin state legislature.

H. Rupert Theobald, 33, has been chosen as chief of the legislative reference bureau by the legislative committee on legislative organization. The announcement was made by Speaker
Robert Haase of the Wisconsin assembly. He has been an associate in the bureau for the last six years. The promotion will advance him in pay from $9,000 to $13,000 a year.

Declined Raise
The vacancy was created last July with the death of M. G.
Toepel, who had worked for $12-000, and who had attracted nationwide publicity several years ago by declining a salary boost in the interest of fighting inflation.

Theobald will direct the legislative library which is the central research agency of the legislature, and its world-famous bill-drafting service.
The library has been known throughout the country for half a century as a model of non-partisan expert staff assistance in the law making process.
West Berlin
Theobald was born and educated in what is now West Berlin, and came to the United States as an exchange student in 1951. He had worked as a newspaperman in Berlin, but when he returned to his home there he learned that his old newspaper had folded. He then returned to this country as an immigrant in 1952 and began studies for a master's degree in political science which was later awarded by the University of Wisconsin.
He ranked high in an examination administered by the state department of personnel which also attracted several candidates widely known in politics including Robert Marotz, former Shawano assemblyman, and one-time speaker of the assembly who now practices law in Madison.

Boom and Bust

The economy's boom and bust pattern is not the mark of a sound economy. Davis said The peaks should be leveled off to fill in the depths.

Paradoxically, the farmer's efficiency is his own worst enemy. The mounting farm produce surplus has kept the farmer on the wrong end of a buyers' market, Davis said.

The national Granger suggested that clubs recruit membership from outside the agricultural community. The consumer's problem parallels the farmer's but at opposite extremes "They are paying too much for food and the farmers are receiving too little," Davis said.

"The label on a can of tomatoes costs more than the farmer received for contents," he added.

Food Prices

Consumer food prices in the U. S. are not too high, Davis said. Americans eat at a rate 20 per cent higher than the calorie level recommended for good health and spend 19 per cent of their earnings on food. Japanese eat the proper amount of food but spend 45 per cent of their earnings to acquire it. In India the average diet is 12 per cent below the recommended level and 70 per cent of earnings are used for food, Davis said.

The American farmer has the know-how and the means to produce even more than he now is if given the incentive of higher farm prices.

Davis also predicted there was a good chance of getting a new wheat bill through congress in time for the 1964 crop.

State Officers

Appearing on the conference program with Davis were five state officers including State Master Elmer Marquart and his wife. The Knowles, Dodge County, couple represented Wisconsin at the National Grange Convention in Portland, Ore.

The Marquarts reported on disposition by the national organization of 16 resolutions drafted by the state for airing at the convention. One of the most important and one which received favorable action was a resolution demanding that imported agricultural commodities meet the same high standards of local produce.

Others called for strengthening of cooperatives by merger or other means to gain more bargaining power; requests for more vocational training in fields related to agriculture; opposition to a federal tax cut without a corresponding cut in federal spending, and elimination of federal excise tax on telephone utilities.

U.S. Consul Released After His Arrest in Zanzibar Hotel

5 Americans Die in Combat In Viet Nam

4 Killed, 3 Hurt
When Big Plane
Explodes in Air

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP) — Five U.S. servicemen were killed and three wounded in combat helicopter operations over the Communist-infested Mekong Delta today.

The heaviest toll was in a turbine-powered UH1A that apparently exploded in the air in an operation 90 miles southwest of Saigon. Four were killed in it. Three crewmen were wounded, two seriously.

The other American killed was a door-gunner of an H21 troop-carrying helicopter. He was hit by a Communist bullet in another operation. He was a private first class.

Toll Grows to 99
The deaths brought to 99 the number of American servicemen killed in combat in South Viet Nam since late 1961. U.S. service deaths from all causes now total 173.

Saigon authorities announced that a company of Vietnamese troops was heavily hit in a jungle ambush 20 miles northeast of this city by a strong Viet Cong force Wednesday.

Government losses included six dead, 31 wounded and 39 missing.

The attack by about 500 guerrillas was the heaviest in several weeks. The South Vietnamese company was ambushed as it entered a forest three miles from the town of Tan Uyen, at the edge of Communist-controlled territory.

The government said the company put up stiff resistance for several hours before it was overrun.

Robber Threatens To Kill Woman in $1,400 Tavern Holdup

RACINE (AP) — Two armed men fled with about $1,400 from a tavern early today after one of them pointed his revolver at a woman patron and said, "I killed a guy last week and I'm not going to stop now."

The holdup at Mence's tavern a mile north of here on Highway 32 occurred at 12:55 a.m. after the two men had been in the tavern for about 15 minutes.

The Racine County sheriff's department said one of the men held a pistol at the right temple of Mrs. Patricia Bahrs, 32, of Caledonia, and made the threatening statement.

Nine patrons were in the tavern, owned and operated by Edward Mence, 58, when the holdup men, described as in their 20s, fled with the cash. The money, all in small denominations, was on hand to cash payroll checks.

The patrons and Mence were ordered to lie on the floor as the holdup men fled on foot in opposite directions.

Deadlock Remains Between Panama, U. S. on Canal Issue

Both Governments Careful
Not to Worsen Situation

PANAMA (AP) — Panama and the United States remained deadlocked today in their bitter dispute over the Panama Canal. Neither government budged an inch, but neither government did anything to make the situation worse.

High sources in American and Panamanian official quarters said there was a slight hope that some formula would be found to get the two governments together again.

Reports from Washington said U.S. diplomatic troubleshooters were working behind the scenes in the U.S. capital and in Panama.

Manuel Trucco of Chile, chairman of a U.S.-Panamanian committee established under the auspices of the Organization of American States, met Thursday with Panamanian President Roberto Chiari and Foreign Minister Galileo Solis.

Later Trucco reportedly met with Edwin M. Martin, the chief U.S. negotiator, in the effort to resolve the crisis.

Chiari made no move to carry out his threat to call his embassy staff home from Washington and demand the departure of U.S. diplomats from Panama. This would complete the rupture of diplomatic relations he broke last Friday during the violence along the Canal Zone in which 19 Panamanians and four U.S. soldiers were killed.

Official Panamanian sources had said Chiari would complete the break unless the United States agreed to negotiate a new treaty to replace the 1903 pact giving it perpetual control of the Canal Zone.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Russian jet bombers and Soviet warships boldly snopped close to the U.S. carrier Hornet and six destroyers during anti-submarine drills in the Sea of Japan early this month, it was learned today.

The Russians were spotted by radar and kept under surveillance by Navy planes and ships. There were no hostile acts or demonstrations and no contact between the Americans and the Russians.

The Navy disclosed that several twin jet Soviet Badger bombers flew over the carrier task group in two flights—under the escort of U.S. Navy jet fighters which intercepted them some distance away.

A Russian destroyer took up position about a mile from the 32,000-ton Hornet and stayed with the carrier and her destroyer screen for almost two days.

In his report, the skipper of the Hornet complimented the Russian seamanship but complained that the Red destroyer belched too much smoke.

Ohio's Primary

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Lt. Col. John H. Glenn Jr. made the plunge from the space program to national politics today. He formally announced he is a candidate for the Democratic nomination in Ohio's senatorial primary election next May 5.

Glenn, 42-year-old native Ohioan who made his historic three-orbit trip just short of two years ago, on Feb. 20, 1962, said that as soon as possible he is resigning his commission from the Marine Corps.

The astronaut said that Congress "is an area in which I have had a lifelong interest. To serve in a body whose actions help mold the destiny of America and the free world is certainly both a challenge and a high calling."

Parents Democrats
"The purpose of this meeting then, is to declare myself a candidate for the Democratic nomination for United States senator from the state of Ohio."

Glenn never had declared himself as a Republican or Democrat. In anticipation of the question, Glenn made this statement:

Robert Kennedy Not Certain if He'd Run For Vice Presidency

TOKYO (AP) — Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy said today he has not decided whether he would accept the vice presidential nomination if it were offered.

Replying to a newsman, he said that he had considered his future for six weeks following the death of his brother, the late President John F. Kennedy, and had "decided basically that I didn't decide."

"At the moment, I plan to be the attorney general," he said. Asked whether he had urged astronaut John Glenn to run for the U.S. Senate in Ohio, Kennedy said he had had "a number of conversations with John Glenn over his future." He declined to comment further.

Seized at Gunpoint as He Argues With Karume Over Lack of Recognition

BY DENNIS NEELD

U.S. Consul Frederick P. Picard III was arrested in the lounge of a Zanzibar hotel Thursday night after Karume stormed in to denounce four American newsmen.

(In Washington the U.S. State Department received word that Picard was released and had reached Dar es Salaam, Tanganyika. Donald K. Petterson, third secretary at the U.S. embassy, was released from house arrest but remained voluntarily in Zanzibar. (All American residents of Zanzibar have been evacuated since the overthrow last Sunday of the Arab regime of the Sultan of Zanzibar by African nationalists, the State Department said. Petterson is expected to resume contacts with the new government.)

The newsmen were forbidden to leave the hotel. They were to leave the island today aboard the British survey ship Owen at the request of the U.S. State

Arabs Unite to Resist Israel

Department. The Owen is here to evacuate British residents.

A squad of revolutionists took the newsmen out of the hotel one at a time this morning and stood them against a wall—then took their photographs.

Karume, who had just returned from Dar es Salaam, where he asked for assistance from Tanganyika, denounced the United States for withholding recognition of the new government.

He shouted angrily at Picard that any remaining relations with the United States were now severed.

While in Dar es Salaam, Karume apparently read dispatches filed by foreign newsmen from Zanzibar. But none of the four Americans had had time to file any reports since their arrival by native sailing dhow.

Picard, charge d'affaires of the U.S. Embassy, had tried to defend the newsmen but only succeeded in incurring Karume's wrath.

"Why do you not recognize us?" Karume shouted at Picard. Then he hammered his fist into the palm of his hand and yelled: "You have interfered with our government."

The four American newsmen are John Nugent of Newsweek,

The conference's final resolution reportedly called for a rival plan aimed at draining off as much water as possible for Arab use.

Israel plans to begin drawing water from the Sea of Galilee, fed by the Jordan River, this summer. It has vowed to proceed with the project no matter what the Arabs do.

The Arab plan could mean an attempt to divert the Hashani and Danias rivers which flow into the Jordan and the Sea of Galilee.

Mother Held in Death of Infant

WAUKESHA (AP)—A charge of second degree murder was filed Thursday against Mrs. Donna Hengen, 31, of North Prairie, in the death of her 7-month-old son. The same charge lodged earlier against her husband was dropped.

Dist. Atty. Roger Murphy quoted Mrs. Hengen, the mother of three other children, as saying she "blacked out" and dropped her son, Jeffery, after she had spanked him. She said that after regaining consciousness, she placed the boy in his crib. She called a rescue squad when she noticed he didn't move, and he was pronounced dead at a hospital.

The husband, Lavern, 29, had attempted to assume blame for the child's injuries but after a lie detector test admitted he had not been home for nine hours before the infant's death.

Minnesotan Killed As Truck Rolls Over

The death of a Minnesota truck driver has raised the 1964 Wisconsin traffic toll to 40, or 15 more than on this date a year ago.

Paul F. Lehnertz, 34, of Winona, Minn., was killed Thursday night when his truck rolled over after leaving Highway 71 and dropping down an embankment about nine miles south of Sparta. Lehnertz was thrown from the cab and found dead under the wreckage by a passing motorist.

Bomb in Luggage Cart $7 Million Gene Autry Motel in Illinois Rocked by Explosion

SCHILLER PARK, Ill. (AP)—A bomb rocked the $7 million Sahara Inn of former cowboy movie star Gene Autry late Thursday night, four months to the day after another bomb damaged the plush motel.

Police in Schiller Park, a suburb northwest of Chicago, said a black powder bomb was planted in a luggage cart outside the north wing of the two-story 150-room inn. It shattered windows in 12 of the rooms.

There were no injuries. A motel spokesman said all the damaged rooms were rented but were unoccupied when the explosion occurred.

Irwin H. Schlicht, manager of the inn, estimated damage at $800-$1,000. Last Sept. 16, another bomb caused $1,000 damage without injuring anyone.

Allan Jones, 56, the inn's featured singer, announced after Thursday night's blast that he was checking out of the motel immediately, commenting that, "I refuse to risk my life."

Built in 1962
The first bombing remains unsolved and there is no clear motive for the latest, investigators said. But the Sahara, originally the Sahara North, has had an interesting although short history.

The luxurious motel, built in 1962, once was owned by Mandel (Manny) Skar, a convicted burglar and an admitted associate of Cosa Nostra hoodlums.

Last year it went into receivership after Skar defaulted on monthly payments on a $5.8 million mortgage. In July, Autry bought the motel from the receiver, Marshall Savings and Loan Association.

The new management promptly made it clear that gangster elements weren't welcome and asked the sheriff's police to eject any known mobsters.

Sheriff Richard Ogilvie of Cook County, no friend of the crime syndicate, gleefully complied.

Among those getting ushered out were Jimmy (The Monk) Allegretti, reputed North Side vice chief; Marshall Caifano, reputed gambling revenue collector; Americo (Pete) De Pietdel (Manny) Skar, a convicted burglar and an admitted associate of Cosa Nostra hoodlums; Parrot Potenza, believed to be gambling chief in Northern Cook County.

Because of this incident, police after the first bombing sought the gangland revenge receiver, Marshall Savings and Loan Association.

Wants Sheriffs' Authority to Drop Traffic Cases

EAU CLAIRE (AP)—A sheriff's department should have the right to dismiss some traffic cases, Milwaukee County Sheriff Michael Wolke said Thursday, "to eliminate a lot of trash that would clutter up the court's calendar."

Wolke said that if his department was not allowed to dismiss some traffic cases, "then the sheriff is nothing more than a rubber stamp to the man making the arrest."

Wolke's comments at the annual meeting of the Wisconsin Sheriffs and Deputy Sheriffs Association were seconded by three county judges who appeared on a panel with him. They were Carl E. Bjork of Price County, Conrad T. Hansen of Eau Claire and John Q. Bartholomew of Pepin.

"We have always felt we did have authority to review cases before we loaded down the court with petty cases, without perhaps, enough evidence to get a conviction," Wolke said.

Hansen said that in most jurisdictions, a ticket was no more than an invitation to appear in court, and that he believed law officers had the right to review the tickets.

New Photostat Machine in Use At Waupaca

Copy Device Replaces Old System in Office Of Register of Deeds

WAUPACA — The new photostating machine for copying legal documents for the office of Lester Breier, county register of deeds, has been installed and put into operation at the courthouse.

The new machine, valued at $9,134, replaces a machine about 10 years old and is scheduled to cut the cost of making copies for filing at the register of deeds' office.

Breier said it will save in both the cost of photographic paper and chemicals in addition to time of the operators.

The new machine is almost completely automatic and needs only one operator. Two operators were needed to man the old machine. The manufacturer estimates between $600 and $700 will be saved annually in papers and materials.

An average day at the register of deeds office consists of photographing between 20 and 50 legal documents. Breier said his two deputies, Mrs. Edward Peterson and Mrs. Emma Landsverk, chief operator, have learned how to operate the machine.

The work which was backlogged during its installation had been completed, Breier said.

1964 Feed-Grain Program Discussed at Clintonville

CLINTONVILLE — Provisions of the 1964 feed-grain program were outlined to some 100 county office managers and county committee members from 21 counties at a two-day conference of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service Wednesday and Thursday.

Representatives attended from two farmer field men's areas, Milo Singler, Shiocton, and Perry Overlien, Melrose. Two similar meetings were conducted at Beaver Dam and Medford. Present Wednesday were county office managers, joined Thursday by county committees.

Among those present were Leland Mulder, Holmen, (La Crosse County), state ASC committee chairman; John Hansen, Franksville (Racine County), and Ralph Gehring, Shiocton (Outagamie County), state ASC committee men.

Rambler solidly among the big sellers

sizes for easy handling in today's crowded streets, freeways and parking facilities?

Or is it because Ramblers are built a new and better way with scores of built-in extra-value features?

Any of these would be excellent answers for Rambler's popularity and rapid growth. But behind them all is an underlying and a more basic reason for Rambler's success:

That reason is the attitude of American Motors toward its customers.

Here is Rambler's philosophy: "We are a company that pledges itself to base its product design directly and specifically on true consumer needs. We respect the judgment of the consumer, and have one primary goal—to make ourselves known as the industry's Number One ally of the consumer."

This attitude and concern for the car buyer is reflected on the production line by workers. They are stockholders in the company, thanks to American Motors' unique progress-sharing plan. Their objective is: "Build every Rambler as though you were going to own it yourself."

Isn't this the kind of organization you'd like to do business with? One that is interested in making sure you are completely satisfied with your purchase? One that is dedicated to making cars with more usefulness to the user?

Success in satisfying customers has put Rambler solidly among the big sellers. It has... —made Rambler No. 1 in compact-car sales. —made Rambler the best-selling 6-cylinder station wagon. —prompted a $200,000,000 expansion product and modernization program, just completed, to satisfy the growing demand for Ramblers. —made American Motors one of the nation's largest industrial corporations, with annual sales of over $1 billion.

If you are planning to buy a new car, test-drive Rambler.

Sweetness and Roses Week

This was sweetness and roses week in Madison.

It was announced that Lieutenant Governor Olson will now accompany Governor Reynolds on his trade mission to Europe in March. Both had been working on plans for independent junkies.

A joint statement said that "it is important that political leaders of different parties achieve cooperation in the operations of state government on matters of vital interest to all of Wisconsin's citizens. We have tried to work together closely so that this mission will succeed."

At about the same time this statement was issued the governor was meeting again with the State Building Commission on the matter of how many infirmaries should be erected at Central Colony at Madison.

Assemblyman McKay, who was so angry with the governor at the last meeting he told him he felt like punching him in the nose, opened this week's meeting with an apology to the governor. He said he was sorry he allowed "personal feelings to degrade the office of governor." Reynolds accepted the apology and praised McKay.

Senator Leonard then took the floor and said he wasn't apologizing for anything he had said. "I can't help it if you dislike me," he told the governor. "But I do like you." Reynolds answered. Upon which Leonard commented that "men of good will" can reach the right conclusion if they are adequately informed.

And while we may seem to be writing with tongue in cheek about all of this we are sincerely happy at the peaceful outcome of the two events. This is going to be a long campaign. The voters of Wisconsin will be better served if leaders of both parties keep personalities subservient to issues.

Red Propaganda

Congressman James Utt of California has sponsored a bill which would prohibit the United States Post Office from carrying Communist propaganda free of charge. The bill has been introduced because, while such propaganda from Communist nations was regulated by executive order during President Truman's administration, the order was rescinded while Dwight Eisenhower was president. The former regulation provided for holding such material and notifying the addressee that it was waiting at the post office and would be forwarded if requested.

The National Federation of Independent Business has voted approval of the bill, according to a letter from the organization's president to Postmaster General John Gronouski. But the reasoning behind the decision was sadly faulty.

"It is significant that the assassin of the president was known to have been engaged in disseminating this material. If such material is so evilly powerful to lead someone to the awful step of killing a president, what is its affect on other neurotic minds in influencing them to commit lesser, but nonetheless grave crimes against the republic?"

There has been no official report on what led the president's assassin to pull the trigger. If the assassin was Lee Oswald there are dozens of other factors in his background that would appear to be more important than reading Communist literature. He had been recommended for psychiatric treatment as "potentially dangerous." He may have been angered at the United States for what he disliked in the Marines or for what he felt was poor treatment of his mother. He may have been an active tool of the Soviet Union or he may have wanted to demonstrate his

What Is Poverty?

In his State of the Union address to Congress, President Johnson issued a promise that his administration would conduct a "war on poverty" so as to make living easier for what he said were one-fifth of the nation's families who earn too little to meet their "basic needs." But exactly what is the "poverty" about which the President spoke?

The Census Bureau figures show that in 1962 about one family in five earned less than $3,000 in cash income, so presumably this is the figure which separates the poor from the middle class. But this overlooks the individual differences among such families. It does not discriminate between the retired couple with modest habits living in a debt-free home, and the sharecropper's sprawling brood with another baby expected every spring. It makes no distinction between the Puerto Rican family living in a city tenement and the marginal farm family raising the bulk of its own food. Setting a hard and fast income figure ignores the lives of the frugal and the spendthrifts alike, the alcoholic and those who prefer a hard bitten type of independence. And there have been studies and statistics about the various types and aspects of poverty that indicate that there are many factors more important than basic income in what help an individual or family needs or should have.

A writer for the New York Times found that in Harlan County, Kentucky, called a "depressed area" by Washington, two-thirds of its homes were listed as sub-standard, one-half without bathrooms and one-fourth without running water. But he also found that 86 per cent of the homes had washing machines (running water or not), 45 per cent had telephones, 59 per cent had automobiles and 67 per cent had television sets. Obviously some of the families considered TV more important than bathrooms.

A survey conducted by the University of Michigan found that in 1960 40 per cent of those with incomes under $3000 had automobiles and a third of them bought new cars that year. In 1962 the survey showed that 45 per cent of those earning less than $3000 owned their own homes and 66 per cent of these had no debts on the homes. Some 700,000 bought television sets in 1960, 300,000 bought washing machines and 500,000 bought refrigerators.

John Kenneth Galbraith in The Affluent Society said there were two kinds of poverty—the case and the insular. Case poverty was caused by the inability of the head of a household to "master his environment" either because of physical or mental defects, alcoholism, or a refusal to conform enough to keep a job. Insular poverty was the result of an individual's insistence upon living in a particular area although job opportunities were poor.

Certainly it is a governmental responsibility to help those who for reasons beyond their control are lacking in "basic needs." But every case of poverty is an individual one. A writer for a national magazine suggests that if poverty is made miserable enough it wouldn't hold any attractions. This is severe, especially when there are children involved. But merely making more than $3000 a year available to every family in the nation is no answer at all.

There are serious problems of inequality in providing for one's family in the United States. But so far the President's "war on poverty" carries only political overtones.

Recall of General to Molify Panama Blocked by Rep. Flood

BY ROBERT S. ALLEN AND PAUL SCOTT

Representative Dan Flood, D-Pa., veteran member of the powerful House Military Appropriations Subcommittee, derailed a threatened State Department proposal to ax General Andrew O'Meara, commander of U.S. forces in riot-torn Panama.

Flood not only telephoned the White House to block this backstage move, but reinforced that by bluntly warning Undersecretary of State George Ball against it.

From an authoritative source, Flood learned that certain State Department officials were urging General O'Meara be recalled to placate Panamanian public opinion. Flood acted fast and forcefully to stop this scheme.

Phoning the White House, he warned that the removal of O'Meara would cause a furore in Congress, in which Flood would take a leading part. Shortly thereafter, when Ball briefed House leaders at a gathering in Speaker John McCormack's office, Flood reiterated his warning.

"If General O'Meara says our troops opened fire only after some of them had been shot by snipers, I believe him," said Flood. "He is the kind of man and soldier who doesn't make phony statements. He is the most forthright officer I have ever known. He's a credit to the service and to his country. He should be supported to the hilt.

"If there are any plans to recall General O'Meara, they had better be shelved fast. If anything like that happens, I can promise you a major upheaval in Congress. We will not stand for any appeasement, particularly this kind."

Startled and obviously impressed, Ball promised to convey this blunt word to both Secretary Rusk and the White House.

L. J. B. AND BOBBY—President Johnson and Attorney General Robert Kennedy are facing the first significant test of their tenuous arrangement to let bygones be bygones and to work together until after the November elections.

Each is supporting a strong candidate for the Democratic senatorial nomination in nearby Maryland's May 19 primary, and the outcome of this backstage clash of wills and personalities remains to be seen. It could end the "marriage of convenience" before getting very far.

Favored by the President is State Comptroller Louis Goldstein. Also backing him are Governor Millard Tawes, Senator Daniel Brewster, and other influential leaders of the regular party organization.

"Bobby" Kennedy's candidate is former U.S. Attorney Joseph Tydings. The son of the late long-time Senator Millard Tydings was named to this important federal job for the avowed purpose of furthering his prospects to seek the seat held by Republican Senator Glenn Beall.

Prior to President Kennedy's assassination, the stage was set for his administration to throw its weight behind Tydings. In various ways, he was to get the benefit of such potent support.

While outwardly the President and his political lieutenants are keeping hands off this explosive Democratic contest, no doubt is being left that Campfeller Goldstein is their choice.

Nothing is being said against Tydings or Attorney General Kennedy. But the undisguised enthusiasm for Goldstein comes through loud and clear.

Pointedly indicative of this is the reaction of the President's close political assistants to a complaint of undercover intervening for Tydings by a key-placed Kennedy hold-over. It is being charged that Theodore Sorensen, special White House counsel and one of the late President's most intimate aides, is quietly proselytizing for Tydings. The claim is made that Sorensen is urging influential Maryland Democrats to back Tydings.

Clifton Carter, top political lieutenant of the President, has assured Goldstein managers that Sorensen will be bluntly told to "cease and desist."

What if anything "Bobby" Kennedy does about this is a toss-up.

If he continues to work for Tydings, that will put him at direct loggerheads with the President and his faction. If the attorney general bows to the new administration's sentiments, he will be breaking ties with Maryland politicians who were very active for his late brother in the crucial 1960 pre-convention struggle.

One-Way Street System In City Needs Revision

Editor, Post-Crescent:

As a citizen and taxpayer of the City of Appleton, I would like to register my objection to a recent decision in regards to the extension of Washington and Franklin Streets before they are finalized. I think it is time for the members of the Appleton City Council to take a fresh look at the problem of planning for our city. We do not need any $90,000 surveys, traffic pattern studies, or high priced consultants. What we need right now is a city council that will just use a little common sense instead of passing the buck to an outside consulting organization. Now is the time to correct the mistakes of previous councils and give the city a sensible one-way street system.

The city of Appleton has been shackled by a wholly inadequate one-way street system for several years. Instead of relieving the traffic congestion in the downtown area, it has forced an additional amount of traffic on to College Avenue. One-way streets to work properly should be adjacent streets. We have only two east-west streets in the downtown area suitable for one-way streets. These are Washington and Franklin Streets. The joining of these streets would ruin any chance of having a decent east-west one-way street pattern for downtown Appleton.

If the water tower is to stay, it would be better to have Washington Street swing around to the north side of it but at least it should be extended straight west to State Street for the present time. The thought of 100,000 cars a day (city planners figures) making a left turn onto Franklin Street should be enough to convince anyone that the street should not join Franklin.

To correct our one-way street problem, we should reverse the direction of Washington, Appleton and Oneida Streets, return Lawrence, Durkee, and Walnut streets to two-way streets, and make Franklin Street a one-way street west bound. This would allow a normal flow of traffic out of the downtown area.

Election Nine Months Away but Campaign Is On in Earnest Already

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON — It was on the walk to a capitol square hotel for a news conference by a Republican candidate that the thought struck state-house reporters the other day.

The traditional timetable for political campaigns in the state has been virtually repealed. Candidate announcements used to come in early summer. A spring declaration in former times was an early one. Today Madison political reporters are interviewing a candidate for governor — Warren Knowles — who declared himself a couple of months ago, and more than a year before the election. They are listening to the campaign declarations also of Wilbur Renk, candidate for senator, although the election remains nine months distant.

How can a man maintain any semblance of interest or novelty during such a long period? How can he avoid repeating himself as he continues speech-making and press agency over the period of a whole year? How can the men who handle this category of news avoid wearying of the material, long before it becomes relevant to a majority of readers and voters, perhaps in late summer or early fall? How can the candidate himself avoid becoming jaded and tired of his own material, when he plods through so many months of campaign labor?

Wyngaard

from the politicians who stand on the outside looking in.

The candidates who are preparing for re-election campaigns but who already hold office need not make their announcements until the last possible moment for the filing of their nominating petitions. There is an advantage in withholding the announcement, in most instances.

The incumbent official can manage publicity more effectively as a public official than he can as a candidate. Sen. Proxmire or Gov. Reynolds, as good current examples, will be invited to places and will get attention for their pronouncements as governor and senator that would have less worth to the news services and perhaps less credibility for the public if attributed to candidates seeking re-election.

WEAR AND TEAR

Yet a year-long campaign represents a great spiritual, physical and financial cost to the aspirant for high political office today and especially that one who is trying to replace the incumbent.

Relatively few persons a step removed from political campaigns and party headquarters, it may be supposed, are aware of the enormous costs involved. The other day this reporter asked a prominent politician in middle life who once held a high elective office and who voluntarily relinquished it why he did so. He related, confidentially, that the strain of running in a competitive situation was such that he was not sure he could again endure it in spite of his appearance of reasonably good health for his age.

The politician who announces in January, and then tells his wife and family that he will put off hard campaigning until summer is deceiving himself and them. There is no way for that aspirant to turn down engagements from potential supporters — once his candidacy is known. And when the last campaign speech has been delivered on election eve, many candidates have wondered why they permitted themselves to be drawn into the most enervating work of their lives.

Strictly Personal

How Can We Increase Our Mind's Potential?

BY SYDNEY J. HARRIS

All we can do is to reason from the known to the unknown. One of my favorite extra polarizations deals with the human ear and the human mind. It indicates to me the possibilities and potentialities within us.

The human ear has a range of only about 10½ octaves. We can hear sounds from 15 cycles per second up to 20,000 cycles per second. This may seem to be a lot, but it is really an exceptionally narrow range.

Dogs and cats, as we know, can detect sounds inaudible to us, up to 50,000 cycles per second. And the new science of ultrasounds has utilized frequencies up to 100,000 cycles per second — five times greater than the unaided ear is able to distinguish.

Shifting our inquiry from the ear to the mind, we know that the low end of the mental scale in adults is about an I. Q. of 60; the high end of genius is about an I. Q. of 200. This, also, is an extremely narrow range of mentation.

It seems more than plausible to me that the human race has an enormous potential for increasing its intellectual powers. If we but found the way to release the psychic energy within us and to throw off the inhibiting factors.

Harris

The difference between an Einstein and a cretin seems so great only because our scale is so narrow. There is a smaller distance between Einstein and the cretin than between Einstein and the fullest resources of the human mind. Our common ignorance far outstrips the gaps between the meanest mind and the broadest.

Some minds may have six cylinders, some may have eight, and a few may have 12. But almost all of us run on only one or two cylinders, utilizing only a fraction of our powers. One of our chief tasks is to learn the "ultrasounds" of the mind.

I remember reading a few years ago about a 100-pound woman whose child was trapped under the rear of an automobile. The woman lifted up the car by the rear axle — a task calling for 10 times the strength she thought she possessed. Under exceptional challenge, she rose to the occasion — and was only in the hospital a day or two with a strained back.

The modern world is calling upon us to achieve our fullest potential in solving the complex and overwhelming problems before us. We must not only learn to think better; we must learn to cast off the emotional chains that distort and throttle our free thinking. Just as there are sounds in the world we cannot yet hear, so are there ideas and processes we have scarcely begun to grasp with the mind's ear.

Potomac Fever — by Fletcher Knebel

Robert McNamara brands Barry Goldwater "irresponsible" for saying our big missiles are unreliable. A slight tactical difference between our Secretary of Defense — and our Secretary of Offense.

Behind the shooting in Panama is the basic question — for whom the canal tolls?

Republican Senator Morton says LB is not a genius. In Morton's book, there's only one genius this year — the guy who can come up with a way to beat Johnson.

Congressmen are still marveling at Lyndon Johnson's State-of-the-Union message. They say he's the first President to put all of his eggs into one ask it.

When LBJ says economy, he means it. Instead of burdening the U.S. Post Office with franked mail, he's sending Sergeant Shriver all over the world to deliver letters for him.

Dramatic Call for Enlistments

100 YEARS AGO

Quoted from the Appleton Crescent for Jan. 16, 1864.

Young men do your duty! By the dying moans from the lacerated victims of the war; by the love you bear your aged grandfathers who fought at Bunker Hill; by the still deeper love you bear "your dark-eyed maid," let not those heroes from the tomb call in vain.

You are needed; the old regiments must be filled, and you must do it. Life was as dear to them as to you, but they gave it for your country as theirs.

Wisconsin has done nobly. Her banners have been unfurled on every field. More than 40,000 rank and file have swelled the mighty Army of the Republic.

The old Iron Brigade will rank with the old guard of Napoleon for bravery, daring and true steel.

Carol Schley was named president of the Courtess Club at Park School in Kaukauna.

Mrs. Harold Pasch was named president of Delta Chapter, Employees Mutual Benefit Association. Mrs. Hilgard Weiss was the retiring president. Other officers for 1939 were Mrs. Andrew Kangas, vice president; Mrs. Ervin Bogan, secretary; Mrs. Lawrence Palm, treasurer, Mrs. Weiss and Mrs. Lloyd Koehnke, directors.

Students at Menasha High School were preparing their second comic opera that year with the Gilbert and Sullivan work, "The Mikado" scheduled for the next week. Lamar Poth had the role of KoKo; Donald Meyer played Pooh Bah; Peggy Gear portrayed Katisha and Norman Ritchie Nanki Poo. In the roles of the three little maids were Ruth Dumke as Yum Yum, June Moran as Pitti Sing and Ruth Fitzgibbon as Peep-Bo. Harold Olson was to sing the role of the Mikado.

The work of the pony express was dramatized by one of the dens of the newly organized Cub Scout pack at Richmond School, Appleton. Taking part in the program were Tom Cavert, Roy Noffke, Dennis Struck and Mike Finnegan. Leslie Hanson took over as cubmaster, assisted by Robert Struck. Mrs. James Kulsdonk was den mother.

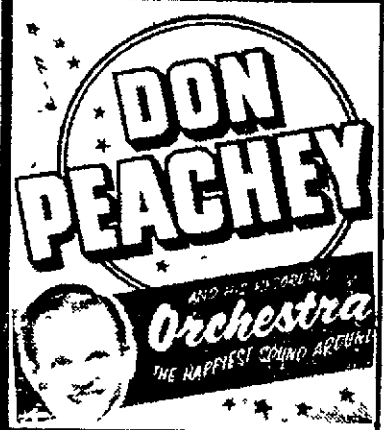

Mrs. Otto Arndt Jr. was elected president of the Lutheran School Club at Brillion. Mrs. Arno Scharf was reelected secretary and elected to other offices were Miss Vera Floeddon, vice president, and Mrs. Harold Wolf, treasurer.

Hollywood Heroine Returned to Native Mexico in 1941 for New Acting Careers

BY BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "The ones who worry about growing old—they are the people who age."

This bit of wisdom came from Dolores Del Rio, whose classic Latin beauty seems little affected by her 58 years. Her face remains unlined, her figure trim, her attitude toward her work as enthusiastic as a starlet's.

"Oh, there was a time when I worried about growing old," she laughed. "I was fighting it all the time. But little by little I decided it was no use. Now I am content to be my age. And why shouldn't I? The best roles are written for mature actresses, not young girls."

In Hollywood Western Miss Del Rio is making one of her periodic returns to Hollywood where she starred for 15 years. This time she is playing an Indian woman in John Ford's big Western, "Cheyenne Autumn." It marks a return to Warner Brothers, where she was under contract in the 1930s. "I did so many pictures here," she recalled, "but I can remember the names of only a few."

Recalls Past Glory
Miss Del Rio's Hollywood career goes back to 1926, a vintage year for the star makers.

"A lot of us started in 1926—Joan Crawford, Constance Bennett, Norma Shearer, Gary Cooper," she said.

"I did such films as 'What Price Glory,' 'Ramona' and 'Resurrection' speaking Spanish. In 'Evangeline' I sang four numbers, but there was no sound dialogue."

Likes Stage Work
"Then I was in trouble. Sound came in, and my English was horrible. What English I had picked up on the sets was slang and unsuited for talkies. I worked for two years with Oliver Hissendell, a coach MGM had brought out from New York to teach actors diction, and then I was able to get by."

After "Journey Into Fear" in 1931 she turned her back on Hollywood and returned to her native Mexico for a whole new career as star of Spanish-language films.

Scientists Warn Against Smoking

BOSTON (AP)—Two Harvard scientists have posted another warning to cigarette smokers—a possible danger from a radioactive element.

Standing beneath a "no smoking" sign in a classroom at the School of Public Health, Drs. Edward P. Radford and Vilma R. Hunt, both non-smokers, said Thursday they discovered a radioactive element in cigarette smoke which they believe may be a cause of lung cancer.

The element, polonium, is carried into the bronchial tubes and lungs by cigarette smoke, they said.

Their findings were submitted to Dr. Luther L. Terry, U.S. surgeon general, and were included in a report issued last week by his committee on health and smoking. The committee said cigarette smoking is a major health hazard.

Merely "Shrinking" Hemorrhoids is Not Enough!

Read how a clinically proven formula now brings more complete, longer lasting relief!

If you suffer from hemorrhoids, you have probably discovered that products which promise to "shrink" hemorrhoids do not always give prolonged relief. For, as doctors know, merely "shrinking" may not relieve discomfort.

That's why an advanced formula from Mencholatam Laboratories—M.P.O.—answers the need for a more complete home treatment of hemorrhoids. With more medically accepted pain-relieving ingredients than the leading hemorrhoid preparation, M.P.O. not only works to (1) shrink swollen areas, (2) reduce itching and (3) relieve pain, but also provides three important extra benefits:

Second, M.P.O. fights infectious bacteria with the proven germ killer, Hexachlorophene.

Third, M.P.O. assures longer lasting relief through an exclusive stabilized base which prolongs the contact of soothing medication with the inflamed tissue.

Get M.P.O. sold without prescription at all drug counters.

Lawrence Begins Fourth Year of Opera

'Sunday Excursion,' 'The Medium' Will Be Given This Year

Opera Theatre enters its fourth consecutive season at Lawrence College when the Lawrence opera workshop parades its latest productions. "Sunday Excursion" by Alec Wilder, and "The Medium" by Gian-Carlo Menotti, at 8:15 p.m. Thursday through Saturday, Jan. 23-25, in Harper Hall.

John Koopman, Lawrence assistant professor of music, again directs the all-student casts.

The two new offerings continue in the "chamber opera" tradition of the "chamber opera" seasons. First productions were "The Telephone" and "The Old Maid and the Thief" by Menotti. "Sunday Excursion" by John Strauss; and "The Maid-Mistress" by Pergolesi, and "Gian-Schicchi" by Puccini. Only "Fledermaus" might be considered outside the "chamber opera" realm, and Koopman's production was modified by an arena theatre setting.

"Sunday Excursion" is set in the atmosphere of a 1910 excursion coach of the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad. The composer, along with librettist Arnold Sundgaard, says the opera "has dipped freely into nostalgia based on the recollection of early innocence, youthful agony, and peppermint stick sophistication."

It was written in 1953 by the composer of "The Lowland Sea" (1951) and "Kiltiwake Island" (1955). Wilder is known chiefly as a composer for the theatre and films, and of young people's operas.

"The Medium," Menotti's fourth operatic venture, was written under commission by the Ditson Fund of Columbia University, and produced by the university in 1946.

It is a two-act tragedy revolving around a central character whose life has been disturbed either by the supernatural, or by the drunken, self-pitying man who is ferociously attacked by Linco (Glenn Corbett) in a bar.

The opera, together with the composer's "The Telephone," was successfully produced on Broadway shortly after its Columbia debut.

Tickets for the three-night double-bill are available at Belting Pharmacy, 204 E. College Ave., Appleton.

Students Should Know

HONOLULU (AP)—The University of Hawaii has introduced a new course for its students. The course is entitled, "How To Study."

Will and Ariel Durant, engrossed in writing a 10-volume history of civilization, work together on a handwritten manuscript at their Hollywood home. To Your Good Health

Additional Vitamins Might be Necessary

BY JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D. waste good money on vitamins. Dear Dr. Molner: I read recently that vitamin pills are taken, if your doctor notes that worthless and that the public is being fleeced in many instances.

Vitamins, no matter where you get them, are necessary for health. In the final analysis, they are necessary for life.

The person Dr. Molner who eats a reasonably well-balanced diet gets the vitamins he needs.

Dumping more vitamins in him, via pills, is an utter waste. You can't get "twice as healthy" by taking twice as many vitamins. You can use only so much. Anything beyond that is superfluous.

Most of the fleecing of the public in this regard is done by high pressure salesmen who convince people that they "can't be healthy" unless they eat such-and-such brand of "vitamin and mineral supplements."

High-Pressure Lads

Even worse, some of these high-pressure lads have been caught promising people that such pills will cure or protect against everything from chilblains to cancer. This, of course, is downright falsification.

And the prices charged for "a month's supply" of such pills is enough to make ethical pharmaceutical manufacturers grab for the aspirin bottle.

Do not fall for the claim that you have to eat pills to be healthy.

On the other hand, vitamins properly used can be very helpful. Some people habitually stick to a meat-and-potatoes diet, rarely eating vegetables or fruits, maybe not even bothering with juice for breakfast.

They get some of the vitamins they need, but they miss others. For them, supplementary vitamins are in order.

The same is true of elderly people, especially those living alone, and those who because of poor teeth or other reasons have difficulty in eating. They often limit themselves to things that are easy to eat—and over the years acquire considerable vitamin deficiencies.

Man Ruled Sane After Celebrating Kennedy Death

MADISON (AP) — Owen H. Reiersen of Madison, charged with disorderly conduct for celebrating the death of President Kennedy, has been ruled sane and will stand trial Jan. 28.

He wore a red and black swastika on his left arm when arrested Nov. 22 in the State Capitol rotunda. Reiersen said the President's death was "a miracle for the white race."

Danny Kaye Happy About His TV Work

Interviewers Miss Give and Take That Highlighted Old Days

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Question: Has television success spoiled Danny Kaye?

Answer: Yes, he's almost lovable.

Hollywood reporters of long standing could relish an interview with Danny Kaye for its give and take. He was master of the eloquent stare, the brisk reply, the knack of making an inquiry seem like the mauling of a kindergarten.

Ah yes, a Kaye interview was a challenge. But look at him now. He's brimming with goodwill. He is happy.

"I haven't been this happy in years," he says. "I haven't been this stimulated in years. All kinds of dire things were predicted for me if I did a weekly television show. It hasn't affected me physically. It hasn't affected me emotionally. I've never been in better shape."

This is the best thing that could have happened to me. I remember sitting and talking with Moss Hart some time before he died. He mentioned that it was good for a person to take his life and shake it up once in a while. That's what I needed.

"I don't mean by shaking up my life I would have quit show business. But I was at a point where I needed some added stimulus, some new challenges. My career had fallen into a pattern of sameness. I would make an occasional picture. I would play some theaters and some night clubs. I would tour for UNICEF. I was reaching the end of my audience."

"Money was the last thing I went into television for," he contradicted, showing a glimmer of his old form. "As a matter of fact, I am making less money now than I could if I worked in other fields."

Storage Space for Compact Living

The family that has everything was provided with a place to put it in new lines introduced at the International Home Furnishings Market Jan. 6 to 11 in Chicago. For many families, living in smaller homes and apartments, lack of storage is a space-age problem.

One of the most colorful items, designed to make children enjoy 'putting away' is a unit called the 'Slowaway'. The child's wardrobe has the appearance of a jaunty sailor, dressed in blue and off-white. Arms serve as hanging hooks and inside there is room for hanging clothes and storing toys.

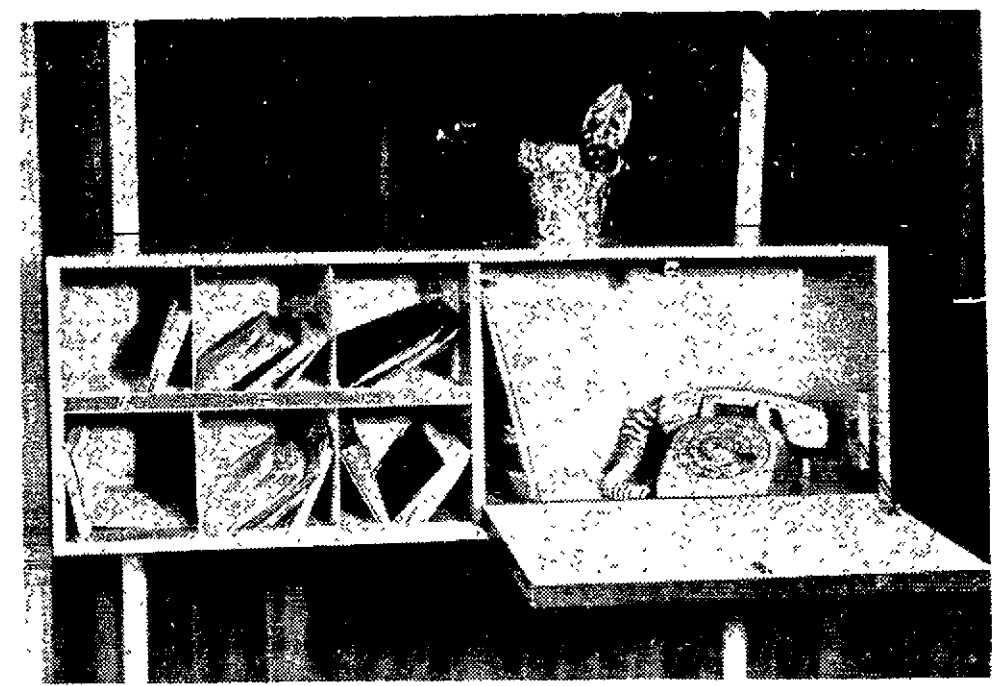

The more community-minded housewife was also taken into consideration, with home offices designed for the kitchen, the family room or the bedroom. They are neatly slotted with pigeon holes for mail, unpaid bills, telephone books and storage, and often provide a blackboard for family messages and reminders. Many of the units, including a bar, are mounted on poles and have their own lamps.

Study centers for a teen's room provide the necessary space for homework, away from the bustle of family life.

Place, Attitude Improve Study Habits

It happens in every family sooner or later — you find yourself sitting at Junior's desk helping with his homework.

What is the right way to go about it? Ask questions? Just keep him company? Read up on everything so you can answer his questions?

Whatever minutes you spend on specific homework snags, you can help your child to be a winner from the very beginning by helping him to organize his home studies and instilling in him good work habits.

Provide Desk Space
However small your home may be, there has to be a secluded corner, office space for homework. It should be the same place every day.

Studies should also be done at the same time every day. Not right after school — he needs to unwind. Not right before dinner — he'll drift constantly kitchenward. Choose a time when exceptions to the rule will be rare. Don't let a TV show interfere. The National Education Association polled teachers on the subject, and 80 per cent of the teachers said TV interfered seriously with studies. Make radio and records taboo. Phone calls can be returned after the homework is done — and callers limited to a polite five minutes at the door.

Equipment Needs
Some special equipment will add to the disciplined office atmosphere. A proper desk, a bul-

Betrothal of Miss Stommel Is Announced

MENASHA—The engagement of Miss Lois Stommel to David Fredericks has been announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Stommel, route 1, Menasha.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Wilbur Winkenwerder, Medina, and the late Mr. Winkenwerder. Mr. and Mrs. Lambert Kramer, route 2, Hortonville, are parents of the bridegroom.

letin board for upcoming assignments, a bookshelf for reference books, dictionaries, help. A good student's encyclopedia is essential to any studying in depth. Typed assignments often seem clearer, appeal to the teacher.

When he sits down to work, make sure he has all the equipment he needs — ruler, scrap paper, his books — within reach and well ordered. If he wanders or digs for things, continuity of thought and concentration go up in smoke.

He should have a 100 watt bulb within a few feet of work. Gloom and strain kill alertness.

One Hour of Work

Experiments have shown that a one-hour period of concentration is the limit. For intensive studies, half an hour is best, followed by a short break. The experts say difficult subjects should be followed by easy ones, that if the student works intensely on math for half an hour and then plunges into science, efforts to assimilate the science information may wipe out much of the work he did on the math.

Unbeatable snags should be dropped and returned to. If he's still stuck second time around, then you can help him out.

Help him to keep up a steady pace. All night cramming sessions add very little to his real knowledge of a subject.

Help Weak Interest

Children are best in subjects that interest them — and strong interest is the result of exposure, knowledge and satisfaction. You can help the child who is poor in English composition, for instance, by introducing him to a writer, the local reporter, showing him through a newspaper or magazine plant. Get him to write a letter to the editor.

Point him at his encyclopedia and with him look into every aspect of his bad subject. There will be fascinating sidelights on it, and the search can become as intriguing as a detective case. Don't let him quit when the going gets rough. Once he has felt the thrill of mastering a bad subject, it may become his best for life.

This area — arousing his interest in a subject — is where parents can perhaps do the most for their children.

Check Misspelling

Most students habitually misspell less than 100 words. If your child can be taught to look up one word every day he will eliminate most of the errors that become bad spelling habits.

According to Dr. George H. Gallup, "The pupils in elementary and high school who read the most books get the highest grades." Word power counts heavily in all IQ tests. The average child acquires his vocabulary most easily when good books are readily available. One encyclopedia, which is designed to help students, can be fascinating even to the pre-schooler with its fairytale section and bright color plates. Show the way by turning to books frequently yourself for information. With help from you, turning to books for reference and knowledge can become almost second nature even in elementary school.

Rewards?

Children will work for rewards — a new bicycle, a radio, can be the carrot that lures your child to better grades. But the greatest reward of all is your approval and his own self-satisfaction. In your efforts to help your child in school, remember that when he is trained to do his best, even if it takes prodigal on your part, he will not only be most successful, he will also be happiest in school and in his adult life.

Italians Forecast Fashions

BY LOUISE HICKMAN

ROME (AP)—Fashion shows in Rome ran Wednesday from lingerie to furs.

On this second day of Italian openings for spring and summer, the collections of specialists—accessory firms and non-couture houses, such as knitwear designers—had the center of the stage.

They showed collectively, and a new Italian knitwear producer, Mariselaine, walked off with the honors.

The Mariselaine debut began with a spectacular bat-winged cotton jersey playsuit in chevroned Roman stripes. It ended on the same high note, with a lacy boucle silk knit wedding dress.

The long-sleeved gown was simply cut: sleeve at the bosom and flaring out gently to a brief train. It was worn with an elaborate "nun's" coil of the same knit fabric.

In between these two applause-winners, there was a series of knitted tubes, some in Roman striped cottons, others in popcorn knit or shell-patterned crochets. Huge white flowers on black cotton jersey made a sensational street dress, and brown beaded embroidery shimmered on a long, empire gown of turquoise silk knit.

Soft Mohair
Miranda is a boutique specializing in handwoven fabrics. Brilliant, soft mohairs and heavy linens were the basis for her show.

Despite constant warnings that mohair was about to go out of fashion, or already has, it still looked very pretty. And Italian designers continued to use it widely and effectively in fabric and knit.

Miranda showed many slim redingote and sleeveless shift costumes. When the dress was in contrast coat collars were open almost to the waist to show the color.

Yellow and orange tweed mohair was worn over orange, and turquoise over turquoise-striped charcoal. Matching coat and dress ensembles were in palest green and in pink and turquoise tweed.

Though not quite in season with everything else this morning, Assunta's furs had more immediate meaning for winter-wrapped buyers and journalists.

Reversible Jacket
Very special in a show that was all beautiful was a reversible jacket in black mink and Gobelin tapestry. A wrapped black and white pony coat was bordered all round with black sable, and a gray broadtail redingote had gray crystal-bead embroidery on its wide, round collar.

Also on this morning's program: standard bouffant froth from Tomassini and an over-varied boutique line from Loty, disappointing after their good black-and-white start last season.

Mrs. Van Dinter is employed at Miller Electric Co. Her husband is employed at Appleton Coated Paper Co.

The bride-elect is employed at Riverside Paper Corp. Her fiancé is with H. C. Prange Co.

No wedding date has been set.

Dress Pattern

These sketches are of two fashions which were presented Tuesday at the opening of the Italian spring and summer fashion showings in Rome. The mid-calf length evening gown, left, is black crepe with jutting corolla collar in white organdy. It is by Fontana. The biscuit beige check wool suit, right, is by De Luca. The white wool jersey blouse has a soft turtleneck collar. (AP Wirephotos)

PEARL ANNIVERSARY
Dear Louise: We are invited to a dinner to celebrate a couple's 30th wedding anniversary. As this will involve a pearl gift, what would you suggest? Would something other than pearl be correct?

Louise Davis Answers:
Anything in mother-of-pearl or decorated with it would be appropriate such as a pearl-handled snack knife, lemon fork, nut spoon or a cigarette box inlaid with a design in mother-of-pearl. It isn't absolutely necessary that your gift even suggest pearls. Flowers or a potted plant would be all right too.

Today's Etiquette

PLACE CARD IRREGULARITY

Dear Louise: My husband and I and another couple are paying our social obligations with a dinner for a bout 100 couples at our country club. Should the place cards be written: Mr. and Mrs. Brown or just Mr. and Mrs. John Brown? Just where should the cards be placed?

Louise Davis Answers:

You apparently have some logical reason for breaking social tradition by seating husbands and wives together. That being the case, each card should be put between the two place settings and should be written: Mr. and Mrs. Brown. However, if there are two or more couples by the name of Brown, the husbands' first names should be included for identification.
